Dairymen Demand That Noyes Resign, Ask Federal Probe

Delaware County Unit Cites 'Unfairness' as Reason for Removal of State Commissioner

Slash Program

Assembly Will Vote on Liquor Tax Proposal on Monday

Albany, N. Y., April 21 (AP)—An upstate dairy group today demanded removal of Agricultural Commissioner Holton V. Noyes plus a federal investigation of the state's unregulated dairy industry.

As legislators considered a new "temporary" milk price-fixing bill, the Delaware county unit of the dairy farmers union asked Noyes' removal on the grounds of "unfairness in connection with administration of a federal-state milk marketing pact."

Stanley Campbell of Delhi said the removal resolution was similar to one approved earlier this week by the Sullivan county union. He said approximately 100 dairymen attended the Delaware county meeting at Walton last night.

Federal Investigation

The Chenango county unit voted at Norwich to ask Attorney General Frank Murphy to conduct federal investigation. The resolution also commended Republican Assemblyman Harry Roux, Warren county, on his request for a state probe of the Dairymen's League.

The Dairy Farmers Union, organized as a producers' bargaining agency under the suspended Rogers-Allen state milk control law, claims a membership of 13,000 upstate dairymen.

The bill before legislators provides a seasonally-graduated minimum price ranging from $1.75 to $2.35 per hundredweight.

An Assembly vote is scheduled Monday night on a bill to correct constitutional weaknesses of the Rogers-Allen Bill.

Vote on Monday

Republicans pressed their $30,000 budget slash program today as advancing toward a final Assembly vote Monday night their proposal to increase by one-half the state tax on liquor.

The action by the legislative majority came simultaneously with a new Democratic administration protest as Correction Commissioner John A. Lyons asserted the proposed $761,185 appropriation cut in his department threatened renewal of prison "riots" of 1929 and 1930.

The 50 per cent increase in the existing $1-a-gallon liquor levy is the only new item of Governor Lehman's $66,000,000 tax program retained by Republicans.

Summons Meeting

Meantime, the governor summoned state department heads to a general cabinet meeting (12 p.m.) to unify their protests against pruning of his recommended $415,000,000 budget as the Assembly ways and means committee considered reporting out the main Republican budget bill which includes the spending reductions.

Abbot Low Moffat, Republican chairman, said the committee probably would vote to report the budget measure even though it is not in final printed form. Should the printed bill reach legislators' desks by Saturday, a vote could be taken by the middle of next week.

The Senate referred to the agriculture committee a "temporary" bill designed to stabilize dairymen's income, which fell sharply as a result of retail price-cutting after invalidation of the Rogers-Allen milk control act.

Republicans have agreed to restore any appropriations, all or in part, "if any crippling of an essential state function can be demonstrated."

3 Prisoners Die

Careless Use of Matches Is Held Responsible for 3 Deaths at Worcester

Worcester, Mass., April 21 (AP)—Deputy Fire Chief Fred S. Taylor said today he believed "careless use of matches by prisoners" was to blame for a fire which killed three inmates last night in underground cells of Worcester's 66-year-old county jail.

Sheriff H. Oscar Rocheleau, head jailer, said the blaze was discovered in a padded cell occupied by John Raskett, serving time for drunkenness.

Only four of the 18 cells in the section were occupied, and Raskett was the only one in those to escape alive. He was hospitalized. Those suffocated by smoke were Walter Sumpter, 66, negro, drunkenness; Antonio Dosti, 18, of Rouyne, Canada, awaiting trial on a larceny charge; and Thomas Makka, 67, of Gardner, drunkenness.

Fire Destroys Wing Of Rhinebeck School

Building Housing 10 Rooms Is Burned With Loss Estimated at $100,000—Firemen Manage to Save Eight-Room Annex Built in 1928; Fire Doors Are Big Help

Fire last night destroyed the old wing of the high school at Rhinebeck, a two-story brick building housing 10 classrooms, at an estimated loss of $100,000.

The fire broke out at 8:10 o'clock that night and firemen from four other villages responded to calls for assistance in fighting the fire. The new 8-room high school annex, built in 1928, and adjoining the old school, was saved, the firemen devoting the larger part of their efforts to halting the blaze from spreading to the new addition.

Fire doors built between the two buildings played a large part in preventing a spread of the fire.

Rhyners Blasts Blaze

Clarence Rhyners, who was passing the school, saw flames shooting upward from the roof near the chimney, and he turned in an alarm. The Rhinebeck department arrived at the school a few minutes later and Chief Oscar Carhart when he saw the extent of the fire, sent in calls for aid from Rhinecliff, Red Hook, Staatsburg and Pine Plains.

The fire burned briskly for an hour when the roof collapsed, carrying with it the greater part of the second story.

The firemen spread three lines of hose to prevent the fire spreading to the annex and water was pumped on the blaze from a nearby creek and lake.

Dr. H. S. Bulkley, president of the education board, who made an inspection, gave as his opinion that the fire was caused by defective wiring.

The fire was confined largely to the second floor of the school, although text books and other equipment on the first floor were badly damaged by fire and water.

Built in 1865

The old school was built in 1865 and was large enough to take care of approximately 250 pupils. Since then the school has been enlarged several times and the new addition was erected in 1928.

The fire burned not only the class rooms but the office of the principal, the art, business and music department and the laboratory.

The old school was located at East Market and Mulberry street, while the new annex faced South street.

Dr. Bulkley said last night that included in the loss by fire were practically all of the textbooks used in the school, and all of the equipment on the second floor.

The building that was burned was used by the pupils of the lower grades while the students in the higher grades and high school attended school in the new annex.

A special meeting of the education board has been called for tonight to make arrangements for carrying on school sessions as usual in the chapels of the churches of the village.

Canadians Probing Submarine Report By Sea, Air Land

Naval, Air and Land Forces Cooperate in Endeavoring to Learn Truth Behind Reports

Halifax, April 21 (Canadian Press)—Naval, air and land authorities were cooperating today in a broad effort to run down the truth behind reports of a mysterious submarine said to have entered Halifax harbor.

Canadian naval vessels at this east coast base and planes of the Royal Canadian air force stationed across the harbor from Halifax were ordered by Ottawa yesterday to make a joint search:

The minesweepers Fundy and Gaspe which are based here left the harbor last night but the destroyers Skeena and Saguenay remained at their moorings.

Police Check Reports

Royal Canadian mounted police at the same time were busy checking reports about the submarine, said to have been sighted at various points along the coast in the last week.

Meanwhile there were fresh developments in Ontario where fears of sabotage, inspired by the tense European situation, have been felt.

Approximately 40 World War veterans were scheduled to receive instructions at Niagara Falls, Ont., after being given orders to report for guard duty at the Queenston powerhouse of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission.

Guards will be on duty 24 hours under direct jurisdiction of the Ontario provincial police.

Officials of the Canadian Niagara Power Company, a privately owned concern at Niagara Falls, said they might place guards at their plant in the near future.

Captain William Latter, a veteran of the pilot service, had reported to naval authorities that he saw a submarine entering Halifax harbor early Wednesday.

Operations at the Campobello radio station near the harbor mouth said fishermen aboard the schooner Billie Bell had reported sighting a submarine heading toward the sea shortly after Wednesday midnight.

Reports from Ottawa last night said the skipper of a small vessel would be questioned today in an effort to determine whether it was his boat which was seen entering the harbor.

The Coast Guard cutter Icarus which has been active for a week in the search for the three missing Bard College students, who, it is believed, drowned in the Hudson river near Barrytown, left the scene yesterday after further dragging the river appeared futile.

All searching parties which worked for several days in an attempt to determine what had been the fate of the young men were unable to turn up a single clue which might shed some light on the mystery of their disappearance.

One boat remains on watch near the place where it is believed the trio might have drowned, but it was generally conceded that further grapping would be of no avail at this time.

Time alone now, it was decided, will solve the mystery, if it is ever solved.

The young men reported missing last Friday were: James Starr, 21, North, Norwalk, Conn.; Philip G. Upton, of St. Joseph's, Mich., and Carlyle W. Jones, of Yonkers. All were 20 years old.

The trio set out Wednesday night April 12, for a fishing trip on the Hudson from Amsterdam. Their dinghy was found washed ashore two days later with its seats and oars missing and water in its bottom.

A fishing boat loaned by John A. Fischer of Abeel street, joined the search last week. On it were Frank "Shad" Moyer, Daniel Burns and Francis Carter.

Appeals Court Rules For Owners of 'Teddy'

A decision of the state's highest court upholds the case of the owners of a pugilistic bear, recently made the center of a local lawsuit, the Associated Press reports today.

Owners of the bear, which allegedly refused to perform after being involved in an automobile accident, are entitled to $12,597 damages, the court of Appeals ruled.

The court affirmed an appellate division award to Willie and Gustave Walldorf of Cliffside, N. J., who claimed the boxing bear "Teddy" became "vicious" after the car in which it was being transported collided with a Central Greyhound Lines bus near Highland, in 1937.

House Kills Bill to Curb FDR's Power on Dollar

Tentative Approval Is Given to Treasury's Two-Billion Stabilization Fund—Luce Makes Dramatic Appeal for Psychological Appeasement of Nation's Business

Washington, April 21 (AP)—After tentatively approving a two-billion extension of the treasury's $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, the house beat down today an amendment to the monetary bill to delete a section continuing the president's authority to devalue the dollar another 9 per cent.

By a standing vote to 152 to 84, it turned down an amendment by Representative Luce (R.-Mass.) to bring the chief executive's devaluation power to an end. Republicans had a chance before final action on the bill to try to put their proposal across once more.

French Premier Daladier called his cabinet to approve new financial measures for the nation's heavy armament program as events in Spain still worried some French circles.

The German fleet was moving southward from Spain, and reports from Rome said that Spanish Nationalist Generalissimo Francisco Franco's planned triumphal entry into Madrid again had been postponed. Set first for May 2, then for May 15, it was reported planned now for May 30. Recall of Italian troops from Spain supposedly was awaiting Franco's march into Madrid.

Italy observed the 2692nd anniversary of the founding of her capital with parades, awards of honors, and the inauguration of new public works projects. The celebration dated back to 753 B.C. when, tradition says, Romulus laid out the beginnings of Rome.

The Senate banking committee approved a $1,000,000,000 increase in the mortgage insurance limit of the Federal Housing Administration.

President Roosevelt said he had talked about the world military plane situation with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, but did not go into details.

Senator Borah (R.-Idaho) commented at a Senate committee hearing that "in the state of mind now prevailing in this country" it was well-nigh impossible "to come to any decision that might be regarded as from all a neutral standpoint." "We have practically made up our minds whose side we are on," he added.

The President indicated that consolidation of various government lending agencies was under consideration in connection with exercising his reorganization powers but that no decisions had yet been reached.

Governor Philip LaFollette estimated at a congressional committee hearing that 75 per cent of the German people were opposed to the Hitler regime.

"Now that I am in my dotage I am coming around to that conclusion more and more but I hasten to add there is not the slightest hope for mankind that I shall practice euthanasia myself. That may be a little inconsistent but I always like to be selfish."

London, April 21 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw said today he thought the human race should practice euthanasia—the putting to death painlessly of those suffering from incurable diseases.

Shaw, who is 82, gave the following comment upon his election as vice president of the Voluntary Euthanasia Legalization Society, which hopes to push a bill through Parliament legalizing "mercy killings".

George J. Griffin of 48 Hunter street.

Edgar D. Croswell of 18 Elmendorf street.

William H. Messing of 7 Joy's Lane.

These six men will assume their duties on April 30, and will serve during the summer vacation period of the police department.

All Excellent Types

Major C. J. Heiselman, president of the police board, said that the reason no appointments were made to fill the two vacancies on the police force was due to the fact that all four men whose names had been submitted as eligible for appointment by the Municipal Civil Service Commission were excellent types of men, and the board found it difficult to select two from the four men.

For that reason it had been decided to name all four to serve as special officers during the summer months so that the board and the chief of police would have the opportunity to evaluate their services as officers.

The mayor said that it was expected that the two men who made the best record as officers would be appointed as regulars at the July meeting of the police board.

Two-Way Radio Test

Following a successful demonstration Thursday evening of the working of the two-way radio system that has been installed in one of the police radio cars, the Board of Police Commissioners directed that the other three radio cars be similarly equipped as soon as the board officially accepts the two-way set that has been installed in one of the cars.

Members of the police board rode about the city in the car that had been equipped with the two-way system and listened to conversations carried on by the officers in charge of the car with the man at the control desk in police headquarters. Later the board gathered in the control room and listened to conversations carried on between police headquarters and Chief Wood in the radio car as the chief cruised about the city.

New Traffic Light

Since the erection of the Kingston High School traffic at Broadway and O'Reilly street has been so heavy owing to the large number of students attending school, it has been necessary during school hours to station one of the paid firemen on traffic duty at that intersection.

Last evening the police board decided to request the Common Council to authorize the board to appropriate $500 in the police budget to the Board of Public Works to be used in installing traffic lights at that intersection, similar to the other traffic lights on Broadway.

Board Economized

Major Heiselman said that the board through economic administration of police affairs had been

Republicans Invite Anti-New Deal Democrats To Join Their Ranks; Taft Assails 'Insult'

Washington, April 21 (P)—An invitation from Republican leaders for anti-administration Democrats to join their ranks stimulated today the mounting capital discussion of the 1940 presidential campaign.

Senator Taft (R., Ohio) told a "Republicans-on-the-march" dinner last night that President Roosevelt has issued "an insulting ultimatum" when he suggested that dissident Democrats leave the party or remain loyal.

"To the President," Taft said, "anyone who disagrees with him is moved only by prejudice, and if he is unwilling to subordinate these prejudices, he is disloyal to his lord and master."

The Republican party certainly mirrors more accurately the ideas of the leading anti-administration Democrats than do the New Dealers, and we welcome

Coast Guard Ends Search for Three Bard College Men

Searching Parties Unable to Turn Up Single Clue Following Disappearance on April 12

The Coast Guard cutter Icarus which has been active for a week in the search for the three missing Bard College students, who it is believed, drowned in the Hudson river near Barrytown, left the scene yesterday after further dragging the river appeared futile.

All searching parties which worked for several days in an attempt to determine what had been the fate of the young men were unable to turn up a single clue which might shed some light on the mystery of their disappearance.

One boat remains on watch near the place where it is believed the trio might have drowned, but it was generally conceded that further grappling would be of no avail at this time.

Time alone now, it was decided, will solve the mystery, if it is ever solved.

The young men reported missing last Friday were: James Starr Nash, Norwalk, Conn.; Philip G. Upton, of St. Joseph's, Mich., and Carlyle W. Jones of Yonkers. All were 20 years old.

The trio set out Wednesday night, April 12, for a fishing trip on the Hudson from Annandale. Their dinghy was found washed ashore two days later with its seats and oars missing and water in its bottom.

A fishing boat loaned by John A. Fischer of Abel street, joined the search last week. On it were Frank "Shad" Mower, Daniel Burns and Francis Carter.

Lindbergh Told Group U. S. Needs Quality Aircraft

Plea Gives Impetus to Push for More Federal Funds to Carry on Research; Wright Present

Washington, April 21 (P)—Charles A. Lindbergh's plea for better American planes gave impetus today to a drive for more federal funds for aeronautical research.

The noted flier told the national advisory committee for aeronautics that emphasis should be placed on quality instead of quantity in plane development. The committee recommended a $10,000,000 research station at Sunnyvale, Calif., which was rejected by the House. The Senate approved $4,000,000 to start the project.

Lindbergh conferred with his colleagues on the committee yesterday after a 25-minute visit with President Roosevelt. He did not disclose his recommendations, but some of those who attended the meeting said he declared it was vital for the United States to develop superior types of civil and military aircraft.

His reported advice was that plane production could be speeded up in an emergency, but that quality could not be developed in plane design in a hurry.

Orville Wright, pioneer inventor and other aviation leaders, were present to hear reports on latest developments in aircraft.

Lindbergh, recalled temporarily to active duty as an air corps officer, will visit the air research center at Langley Field, Va., May 2.

Some members of Congress have opposed the California project on the ground that it would needlessly duplicate experimental work being carried on at Langley.

The strength of American air forces in comparison with those of European countries has been a prime topic of congressional debate during consideration of defense measures.

Lindbergh's survey of American facilities, combined with his knowledge of women's party activities.

Reed, discussing foreign affairs,

State PBA Joins Move to Oppose Babcock Measure

Patrolmen's Benevolent Associations throughout the state are joined in a co-operative move to enlist the support of the public in opposing the Babcock-Sedye bills, it was announced today.

A group representing associations in 34 cities, and 147 police units composed of towns, counties, towns and villages affiliated with the New York State Police Conference, met with the pensions and legislative committees of the conference at Albany April 19 to register opposition to the bills.

The meeting was called by Joseph P. Moran, president of the patrolmen's group. The appeal is sent to the people and officials to oppose these bills because they infringe upon the rights of home rule and deprive the members in a local pension system, of their statutory rights as provided for in the city home rule law and approved by the people in the new constitution.

These bills, says President Moran, are unnecessary, since the cities now have power to act if they desire to do so. Mr. Moran in attacking the bills, indicates that the pension situation is provided for adequately under the present system.

Principal reasons given for the opposition of the conference to the bills, follow:

They permit the transfer of policemen from local pension systems to the state system without their consent. The present law requires the consent of 60 per cent of the members.

The proposed bills abolish the right of a member of a permissive referendum by petition, as provided for by the Cities Home Rule Law and approved by the people in the new constitution.

The bills would limit pensions to those which can be paid out of the 1939 pension appropriations.

This cuts pensions in half, because the 1939 appropriation covers those pensions from the police forces of 1913, which were only half the numerical strength of the present forces.

Enactment of these bills would compel the cities to reorganize their local pension systems, even though the city and the members are quite satisfied with their present laws, and therefore would violate the home rule principle.

Clean-Up Week Plans Are Made

Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding of the board of public works, said this morning that all arrangements had been completed for Clean-up Week in Kingston. Next week has been designated and collections will begin Monday morning.

The superintendent urged that all property owners cooperate with the street department by cleaning up their yards and placing the rubbish and winter's debris in containers and setting the containers out on the curb.

Extra trucks and men will be used during the week in making collections. Where piles of rubbish are so large that they can not be conveniently placed at the curb in containers, the trucks, where there are means of access, will drive into the yards and pick up the rubbish if it is piled near the driveway in heaps.

Owner of Service Station Is Sued

An action to recover $183.50 for work, labor and services was started in county court this morning before Judge Traver and a jury. William and Henry Robinson seek to recover that amount from Lloyd Plass, West Park gas station operator, for work which they claim they did at the station and for which they have not been paid. Mr. Plass on the other hand contends that he owes them but $8.50 and that he is willing to pay that amount.

The controversy arises over alterations and extensions made to the gas station in 1937 and 1938.

Plaintiffs claim they entered into a written contract with Plass for erection of a cement wall, excavations for the cellar of an addition and other work and that during the work changes were made in plans and they were hired to do extra work. They allege that the plans called for a driveway to the basement but this was later changed to cellar steps, for which they claim $60.

They claim further they contracted to spread gravel over the yard at the station for $100 and to dig holes for two gas tanks for a sum of at least $30 each or the amount which the gas company allowed for the job. Plass told them he got $38 but later was sent a check for $55 each and he asked for a rebate of $15 on the jobs when he sent the check to the gas company made out to the contractors.

Counsel for the plaintiffs in opening stated that the plaintiffs had accepted the check and then allowed a credit of $15 for each hole on their bill. As a result of this opening statement John Wadlin, counsel for the defendant, asked that the complaint be amended reducing the amount asked by $30. Judge Traver withheld decision until the plaintiff's case was in.

The defendant denies that he entered into any contract for additional money for changing the driveway to cellar steps and claims that the steps were to be made instead of the driveway without a change in cost. He also denies that he agreed to pay $100 for spreading the material taken out of the cellar excavation and claims he has paid $300 on account of the work he has done. However, he now is willing to pay the balance of $850.

Mr. Plass claims he received a bill later for the $8.50 around August and in September a bill was sent for $108.50 and now he is being sued for $183.50. He denies he owed the money.

Michael Nardone appears for plaintiff and John Wadlin for the defendant.

New Commissioner To Be Appointed

Application for appointment of a commissioner of appraisal for Delaware Section No. 7, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Commissioner James J. Gorman of Albany, will be made this afternoon to Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick.

This commission has jurisdiction on takings for the Rondout Reservoir locality from Lackawack to the Sullivan county line. Present members of the commission are Mark W. Macay and Ross K. Osterhoudt.

Man Who Broke Drug Scandal Dies of 'Flu'

New York, April 21 (AP)—Julian F. Thomson, treasurer of McKesson and Robbins, Inc., whose personal investigation of the corporation's affairs led to the exposure of F. Donald Coster as Philip Muscia, ex-convict, died early today at his Park avenue home.

Thompson, who would have been 51 years old Sunday, had been ill for several weeks of influenza. He was born in Newton, N. J., was graduated from Princeton University in 1911 and had been connected with McKesson and Robbins for ten years.

His widow and two children, Patricia, 14, and Julian, 11, survive.

Festival Parade Floats Entered

Numerous additional entries for floats have been received for the parade on May 6 in connection with the Apple Blossom Festival, it was announced today.

The Woodstock Legion Speedway group has entered a float, as well as The Barn, formerly Huling's Barn, just beyond the Kingston City line.

The Board of Public Works has made several entries. In addition many inquiries are being received about making entries from many groups and communities throughout Ulster county.

The committee believes that the parade is an excellent opportunity to advertise the various communities and facilities of the county and at the same time help put on a real show for the visitors.

Legion to Meet

Kingston Post of the American Legion will hold the regular monthly meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in the Legion Building. The amendments to the constitution and by-laws, as recommended by the department judge advocate, will be read and come up for adoption. Chairman Beichert of the birthday committee will have a report on the party held to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the founding of the Legion.

Five Now in Race For Queen Honors

Four additional candidates for the honor of queen to reign over the second annual Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival have been announced. They are Frieda Strongman, Highland High School; Madaline Tabacchi, New Paltz High School; Gloria Woolsey, Marlborough High School, and Marie Hanke, John G. Borden High School, Wallkill. The total to date is five including Joan Craig of Kingston High School.

The final selection will take place Friday evening, May 28, at the New Paltz Normal School auditorium.

Plaintiffs claim they entered into a written contract with Plass for erection of a cement wall, excavations for the cellar of an addition and other work and that during the work changes were made in plans and they were hired to do extra work. Song of Festival To Be Broadcast

Radio Station WGY of Schenectady, will broadcast the song chosen for this year's Apple Blossom Festival as part of the popular "Name Your Number Program." Monday night, May 1, at 10:30 D. S. T., it was announced today. It will be played by Gordie Randall's WGY orchestra as a special feature on that program.

This song "Under the Old Apple Tree" was written by Albert Edward Wilkerson of Kingston, and was chosen both because of its beauty as a composition, and its appropriate relation to apple blossom time.

As radio stations are notably strict about including original compositions on their programs, it is no small compliment to this year's Ulster County Festival song that there was no hesitation upon the part of the WGY officials in approving it for "Name Your Number."

Hardenbergh Company Erects New Firm Sign

Considerable interest has been shown during the last week in the appearance of a new black and gold firm sign over the door of the Hardenbergh Company, home furnishings store, 34 Main street.

In addition to the firm name, the sign bears the words, "Personal Shopping Service."

"We so often are called upon to fill special orders in connection with decorating and furnishing homes, that we find ourselves doing a personal shopping service," explained William Hardenbergh.

"It means simply that we give individual attention to the needs of our customers, to the point of going out to shop personally for whatever is needed if we don't carry it in stock."

He also denies that he agreed to pay $100 for spreading the material taken out of the cellar, excavation and claims he has paid $90 on account when the job was begun and also paid all bills for extras except the $8.50.

Lockers for the use of the officers of the department have also been purchased and installed. The new traffic lights which the aldermen will be asked to approve will only be used during school hours and will not be in use on Saturdays and Sundays. A control wire will run to the Central Fire Station so that the lights can be turned on to halt traffic to allow the fire apparatus to enter Broadway.

Five Hurt; One Killed

The accident report submitted by Chief Wood for the month of March showed four accidents in which five persons were injured and one killed. The accident report follows:

March 13 at 5:10 p. m. at the intersection of Broadway and Thomas street, a car driven by Michael Granato of Glasco, N. Y., collided with a bus driven by Clifford Newark of New Paltz, N. Y. John Ascino of Glasco, a passenger in the Granato car, sustained injury to knee.

March 19 at 10:29 p. m. at the intersection of Foxhall avenue and Grand street, a man named Joseph Harris of West Stockbridge, Mass., was found dead after being struck by a hit and run driver. (Not apprehended.)

March 27 at 12:15 p. m. at the intersection of Downs street and Manor avenue, a car driven by Joseph Rourke of this city, struck a Woodstock-Kingston bus driven by Donald Zimmerman of this city. Carl Snyder of this city sustained a cut of the arm and leg.

March 28th, at 9 a. m. at the intersection of Smith avenue and Grand street, a car driven by Charles Shultz of this city struck a car operated by Katherine Donato of R. D. 1, injuring Katherine Donato, who sustained a leg injury, and Mary Liccardo of R. D. 1, who sustained a side injury.

55 Arrests Made

The chief's monthly report showed that during March there had been 55 arrests made in the city, of which number two were women. The arrests were made for various offenses, including 10 for violation of traffic laws; 7 for public intoxication; 7 for pregnancy; 2 for driving while intoxicated; 2 for grand larceny; 2 for possession of policy slips, and the remainder for various other offenses.

Hugh Thompson, who would have been 51 years old Sunday, had been ill for several weeks of influenza. He was born in Newton, N. J., was graduated from Princeton University in 1911 and had been connected with McKesson and Robbins for ten years.

Four additional candidates for the honor of queen to reign over the second annual Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival have been announced. They are Frieda Strongman, Highland High School; Madeline Tabacchi, New Paltz High School; Gloria Woolsey, Marlborough High School, and Marie Hanke, John G. Borden High School, Wallkill. The total to date is five including Joan Craig of Kingston High School.

The final selection will take place Friday evening, May 28, at the New Paltz Normal School auditorium. Previous to the contest, the Rock School of Rifton will stage a complete musical comedy "Love Pirates of Hawaii." A small admission fee will be charged to cover the necessary expenses. Any balance left over will be used in the general fund of the festival committee. The public is cordially invited to the queen selection on April 28.

Tickets are available at the Farm Bureau office, 74 John street, Kingston. A limited number of reserved seats at a slightly higher price, are available.

Bar Association To Meet Monday

The Ulster County Bar Association will hold its next dinner meeting Monday evening, May 1, at the Kingston Club. This is the first meeting in two months, and many important matters, including legislative measures in the state Assembly and Senate, will be discussed.

Supreme Court Justice Sydney F. Foster will be a guest of honor. N. LeVan Haver, chairman of the program committee, expects to present Dean Alexander of the Albany Law School as guest speaker for the occasion.

Reservations for the dinner meeting should be made to Vincent G. Connelly, secretary of the Association, 41 John street.

AT GIBRALTAR

History-minded people have old memories stirred by news that French warships have taken over naval defense of Gibraltar."

That great British stronghold commanding the western entrance of the Mediterranean is still under British command. British marksmen man the guns of the rock-fortress—one of the twin promontories called by the ancients the "Pillars of Hercules." And there are still British battleships in the Gibraltar basin. But the fortress no longer seems impregnable. The Italians and Germans, with the aid of their Spanish allies, have mounted modern guns on the neighboring shore. The German and Italian fleets are near by. And the British fleet, powerful as it is, has its strength scattered widely over the Mediterranean.

It is a critical situation. There might be a fight there as important historically as the famous Battle of Trafalgar, fought just outside of the Strait of Gibraltar by Napoleon and Nelson's British fleet in 1805, which began the French dictator's downfall.

A battle there might be also as important as the famous defeat of the Spanish Armada by the British in 1588, which launched the glory of the Elizabethan Age. It might rank with the naval Battle of Actium, in north-western Greece, near Corfu, where a British fleet rides now. There in 31 B. C. Marc Antony fought with Cleopatra by his side, and Octavius Caesar won the mastery of the known world.

Or it might be as important as the great

Battle of Salamis, where Themistocles and his Athenians in 480 B. C. destroyed the Persian fleet of Xerxes and paved the way for "The glory that was Greece."

ANOTHER PACIFIC AIRPORT

Work is to begin soon, it is reported, on preparation of an air base at Canton Island in the Pacific. When it is ready, it will be part of an extension of present Pan-American air service to the Orient. The great clipper planes already go on regular schedules to Hawaii, the Philippines and China. The new base will go to New Zealand.

Canton Island has a sheltered lagoon nine miles long and five miles wide, which will make a fine harbor for the Clippers. The North Haven, a surface ship that carries the materials and workmen who build such an airport, is taking 314,000 separate items aggregating 5,000 tons, for houses, shops, a hotel, a pier, a radio station and power plants for lighting, pumping, refrigeration and communication.

This is one of the two islands which the United States and Great Britain are now going to control cooperatively, without settling the actual sovereignty of either of them. The proposed air base there is planned entirely for commercial purposes, though obviously if it became necessary it could be made serviceable for military operations, too.

FILM PROGRESS

Will H. Hays, film boss, has told what he thinks the public wants in movies, and his account does the public credit. Here are the items.

We want, he says, themes which show "man's long struggle for freedom and the hopes and aspirations of free men everywhere." We want Americanism portrayed in pictures of success attained by "the triumph of man's spirit over material obstacles." We want, along with our patriotism and idealism, realistic pictures showing the human problems of plain people. We want pictures making us familiar with the lives and customs of other nations and races, pictures dealing honestly with the great men and women of all nations, pictures especially enabling us to understand our sister Americas and to be understood by them, pictures which create anew for our present generation the great events and scenes of our national history.

This seems to be a strong and true statement. If Hollywood lives up to the specifications, both Hollywood and the rest of us will benefit.

MEETING WORKERS

A cruel schoolmaster in one of the novels of Charles Dickens had a neat way of combining learning and labor, with emphasis on the latter. He would make a boy spell "window" then order him to wash the windows. A good deal of whipping and general abuse attended this educational process.

The reader is reminded of the story by a news item from London which relates that educational authorities there call in "garbage men, postmen, parkkeepers, sewer-men, butchers and bakers to give first-hand information to children during lectures and lessons." The pupils fire questions at the "lecturers" and a good time is had by all.

It sounds like a practical method of teaching civics, presenting the children with first-hand information on such problems as food distribution and garbage disposal in a great city. That's what it would be in this country. But the classes are in London and their purpose, it is reported, is "to teach children self-expression by bringing them into closer contact with every-day-life." In any case, it should be instructive for both students and workmen. It may also greatly further the process, said to have begun in the world war, of breaking down the class distinctions which have survived in England through all the historic development of freedom and democracy.

Millions of Americans want to be supported by the government, and how the government itself will be supported doesn't interest them.

"Living in a goldfish bowl" is very risky nowadays—some college boy may swallow you for an appetizer.

The Chinese lately seem to be eating ginger instead of chop-suey.

THE PERSISTENT DREAM STATE

You naturally think of heart disease as the most grave or dangerous of all diseases. From the standpoint of the organs of the body, heart disease does cause more deaths than any other ailment. However, once an individual knows he has heart disease and 'lives' within his strength, he may live 20 to 40 years afterward.

There is, however, a mental ailment that should receive the most earnest consideration of parents, teachers, and physicians which, if treated in its early stage, may result in a cure in the majority of cases. Undiscovered or neglected, this mental ailment sends more patients to mental hospitals than any other single ailment. I am referring to dementia precox, the ailment where the individual lives really twice, one life amidst those about him and the other life in a world of his own. And this world of his means more to him than does the life about him.

All the unusual or queer things done by the dementia precox patient are neither unusual nor queer if it is just remembered that these queer and unusual things fit into the particular world in which he lives; the world that he has created for himself and, of course, into which he fits perfectly.

What must parents, teachers, and physicians do to prevent the development of dementia precox in children and young adults?

The Clinic of the Drs. Edward A. Strecker and Francis J. Braceland, Institute of the Pennsylvania Hospital, in the Philadelphia Number of Clinics of North America, says:

Prevention must be intensively cultivated during childhood and every child who presents dementia precox symptoms—good, 'queer,' 'shy,' 'reserved,' 'difficult,' 'unsociable,' 'seclusive,' etc.—should be suspected of a possible development of dementia precox.

In the home, "parents must play no favorites," either in rewards or punishments. The extra ability or sociability of brothers or sisters should not be pointed out. The reason for punishment should be explained.

Unfortunately, many of these children are the 'only' child, or are much younger than their brothers or sisters. Fortunately, the school puts all youngsters on the same level from the standpoint of reward and punishment but the Clinic advises that the reading matter of these youngsters should be supervised.

Personally, I believe the biggest factor in preventing dementia precox is group games where the youngster has to 'give and take.' There is no 'royal road' for him to tread when he is playing or mixing with others.

Health Booklets

Nine health booklets by Dr. Barton are now available for readers of the Kingston Daily Freeman. They may be obtained by sending ten cents each one desired to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y., mentioning the name of this newspaper. The booklets are: Eating Your Way to Health; The Common Cold; Why Worry About Your Heart?; Neurosis; Overweight and Underweight; Food Allergy; How Is Your Blood Pressure; Scourge (gonorrhoea and syphilis); and Chronic Rheumatism or Arthritis.

Denver, Colo.—The national park service has announced a $1 automobile fee for cars visiting Grand Teton and Rocky Mountain National parks. Heretofore no entrance fee has been charged. There will be a 50 cent fee to enter Devil's Tower Monument in Wyoming. The announcement said the park service is attempting to make the parks "as self-supporting as possible." The $1 fee for Grand Teton will be waived if a car first has visited Yellowstone National Park, where the entrance fee is $3. Or if the $1 has been paid at Grand Teton, this will be applied on the $3 charge at Yellowstone. The two parks adjoin in Wyoming.

Mussolini's Reply to Peace Proposal Developed a Spirit of Hopefulness for the Long Run

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 21.—Whatever may be said by Premier Mussolini about the absurdity of President Roosevelt's peace proposal, the fact remains that the guiding force of that epochal effort by the United States will continue to influence European policy for many months, and perhaps years to come.

The fact that Herr Hitler is canvassing various small states and hoping to be able to present a list of 29 states which will say, presumably through their foreign ministers or ambassadors, that they do not fear attack is in itself an achievement which will have to be chalked up in favor of the American initiative. When the German chancellor goes to the trouble of getting assurances from 29 nations that they do not fear attack, it is tantamount to his giving an assurance that Germany does not itself intend to administer an attack.

There will be many who will doubt the word of the German chancellor, but, in a negotiation of the kind initiated by the President of the United States, it is going to be necessary for the American government to take Herr Hitler literally. If, in other words, he presents evidence that nobody fears an attack, and, by implication, that Germany herself does not intend to attack, it may well be asked, what would be the position of those same 31 countries and the rest of the world when, in the face of such an exchange with the President of the United States, territory is taken by force and another weak nation is robbed of its independence? Mr. Roosevelt cannot possibly lose by his peace move. And the truth is the world will gain by such a clear-cut definition of the issues. For, any disregard of the assurances, direct or indirect, which now may be given by the so-called axis powers will be the signal for the development of a remarkable unity on the part of all the other nations. Outside sympathy, which has so much to do with neutrality and financial and economic aid, would then be universally mobilized on the side of the democracies and against the totalitarian states.

The most significant thing about the Italian premier's speech is its sense of awareness of world opinion, which, while not strikingly demonstrated, is nevertheless plainly indicated. Reference to the United States as a distant mediator and to the large size of international conferences permit of discussion when the formal replies are laid before the president from Berlin and Rome.

The United States can debate each of the points raised and renew her pleas for international conference and collaboration wherein the very errors of the past of which Signor Mussolini complains may be rectified. There was nothing about the Italian dictator's speech which can be construed as a definite disregard of the premise of Mr. Roosevelt's intervention, namely, that aggression must be halted. The denial that any nation is going to be attacked by Italy will be accepted here as sincere. To do otherwise is to provoke bitterness and discord, and it is worthy of note that, on the same day Signor Mussolini was making his speech, the pope at Rome was calling for prayer all over the world to remove the friction between peoples and to advance the cause of peace.

Once assurances come, whether in the form of denials directly or indirectly of any aggressive purpose, the way is opened for further steps to buttress the peace alike in America.

Outdoor Expert Discredits Animals as Weather Seers

Animals are no more expert in forecasting the weather than farmers, fishermen and housewives with washings to dry, according to the National Wildlife federation.

"If animals had the marvelous knowledge of impending weather changes," says David C. Aylward of the Museum of Comparative Zoology, Cambridge, Mass., president of the federation, "many wildlife tragedies would be averted. For example, in the duck traps of the Northwest, thousands of wildfowl nest each spring when the marshes are flooded and then, after the young are hatched, find themselves completely cut off from water as the shallow ponds become sun-baked flats."

"A late spring blizzard sometimes strews the thickets with dead warblers and fly-catchers. Head winds have been fatal to large flocks of migrating birds. Ducks have lingered too long at their fall feeding grounds and have been frozen in the ice. Poison ivy, by the way, is a great boon to many birds that get overtaken by stormy weather. The waxy berries of poison ivy are good substitutes for insects, and are emergency rations in hard times."

"The notion that the thickness of the muskrat house or the amount of nuts stored by squirrels indicated the severity of an approaching winter has no scientific foundation."

"But I do believe that wildlife is weather-wise in about the same degree that we human beings are."

The approach of a storm will cause herring gulls and other water birds to change their daily routine so as to avoid trouble, but by the time the birds are aware of something going to happen, any Boy Scout would know about it, too."

Three Willard Brothers Famous as Clock Makers

One of the most famous names among American clockmakers is that of Willard. Benjamin Willard was born in Framingham, Mass., in 1716. In a large family of children, three of them, Benjamin Jr., Simon and Aaron, became famous clockmakers. The earliest clocks of this family were made about 1765. The three sons, as they became proficient in the business, moved to nearby towns and set up establishments of their own.

Benjamin Jr. advertised his clocks as being "neatly cased cheaper than imported" and "Warranted to measure Time without Variation, and to go many Years without cleaning." He also mentions "Musical clocks—which play a different Tune each Day in the Week, on Sunday a Psalm Tune."

Aaron was especially noted for his fine long case clocks. The brothers made various kinds of timepieces, not only for the home but for church and other public places as well. They made eight-day clocks and those that would run a year with one winding.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
Rural Hall, N. C.—It wasn't that he scared the dicken out of Constable J. T. Spainhour so much as the company he kept that got this driver into trouble. Spainhour was gazing speculatively at a freshly dug ditch, when a car sped past him into the ditch. The constable climbed down, helped the uninjured driver out, when he looked into the wreck and discovered—90 gallons of liquor. He charged the driver with violation of state prohibition laws.

Political Minded

Idaho Falls, Idaho—Residents of the Blowout school district went to town in a body to see a movie (Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs), forgetting it was school board election day.

Petitioning County Superintendent W. S. Brighton for help, they promised:

"Just appoint a board member for us and we'll remember to hold an election next year."

The Man Was, Right

Weatherford, Okla.—Garageman Pete Buschman ran for his tools when a car coasted across his yard, the driver yelling:

"Quick, fix my brakes—they're in terrible shape."

Returning, Buschman found no trace or car or driver until a shout emerged from a nearby ravine. The car had coasted across the garage lot into the gully.

Tin Shield

Worthington, Minn.—E. C. Grimes of Hadley credited a tobacco can in his shirt pocket with saving his life in a traffic accident. The can deflected a sharp splinter of the steering wheel which jabbed his chest when his car and another collided.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters

Asey Mayo, Cape Cod sleuth.
Jane, ward of the murdered woman.

Yesterday: Eloise is found dead at the foot of the cellar stairs. Asey thinks she was pushed.

Chapter 41

'Stop, Look, Grab'

HAMILTON wandered around, peering at the old book case whose shelves were filled with preserves and "put-up" jars of vegetables and fruit. He even removed the lid from the old stone crock, and after sniffing at its contents, hastily replaced it. The odor of sauerkraut filled the cellar.

"Let's get back upstairs," Lane said. "I don't see anything here that's doing us any good. If she was killed, she was killed, and we might as well get to the Warren girl and get it over with."

"What?" Asey asked as they climbed back to the kitchen. "What's that?"

Jane Warren. She came in the house after Eloise did. I saw her. She was here a couple of minutes. I saw her come and I saw her go."

"You didn't tell us about that," Lane said tartly. "Give me any chance to. Don't you want to amend your ideas, and say she fell or tripped, instead of was pushed?"

Asey shook his head. "Nope. Doc, how did Jane take it, when you told her Eloise was sick?"

"She said Eloise had eaten any quantity of lobster salad and peach shortcake with whipped cream for dinner," Cummings replied. "And had been taking soda mint by the pound ever since. I should say that Jane was philosophical, and more or less unmoved about it all. Eloise's stomach and its eccentricities are hardly a closed book to anyone who ever slept under the same roof with her, you know."

" Didn't seem to see anything strange about you comin' or your we're comin'?"

"She said it was thoughtful, and that she couldn't possibly have managed the tourists alone."

"Brazening it out," Lane said. "Remember who sir threatened Asey? One more word from Eloise and I'll cut Mike Slade!"

"You're so obvious, Lane. Cummings began to put things back into his bag. "I knew you'd say that I've been ailing for you to say it. Tell me what sort of things do you eat, usually?"

"I eat what I can get," Lane was annoyed. "What do you think?"

"Specifically, what?"

"Oh, meat and fish and vegetables."

"Obvious foods," Cummings said cheerfully. "See how it works out, Asey? Eloise eats full things—you tell me."

"You tell me, Asey said, "what the feller we feller feeds on, an' I'll pay your grocery bills for a year." Hamilton, bring Jane in, will you?" He lifted the curtain and peered outside. "The tourists seem to have let up."

He led Jane into the dining room and motioned her to a seat from which she could not possibly see the blanket-covered figure on the living room couch.

"How's Eloise? Was it indigestion again? And Asey, wasn't she sporting about that sock? I've felt a beast. So I laid me out in lavender in a few well-chosen words. Oh, I'm so tired!"

"Jane," Asey said, "what'd you come indoors for, just after Eloise?"

"Cards. Shop cards, you know. Business cards. Those tourists were velling for 'em, and the ones in the bank had all been taken off."

"Where were they?"

Appendicitis?

THE cards? In the corner cupboard here. See, I spilled some on the floor. I was in such a rush. Did you know what Eloise said? She said if I could sell that oak chest, I could have the money for myself, and I did! To a friend of General Philbrick's. Now I have a downy, isn't that swell? Mike told you about the man who bought his pictures—"

"Did you go into the kitchen when you came in?"

"No, I just got the cards and went out. Asey—" she looked at him, "whatever's the matter now? Does Eloise think she has appendicitis again? Because she did have her appendix out, and Mary has a thing signed by the doctor saying so. She had to get it, because Eloise has fits of thinking that they just opened her up and peered at her appendix, and left it there. Why, I can't imagine. I should think it would be one of those things you'd just naturally sense, whether you had an appendix or not, no matter how much you misinformed doctors. Asey, we're going to be married next week, did Mike tell you?"

"Jane," Asey said, "Eloise has had an accident."

"A—what? What happened?"
"On the cellar stairs. She—" "Oh, I thought you meant she was killed, like Mary. You nearly took my breath away! Is she badly hurt? I hope not. You know, she's terrified of those stairs. The three of us always worry about them. We used to have a sign tacked up, saying, Stop, Look, Grab! Is she badly hurt?"

Involuntarily Asey looked toward the living room. Jane followed his gaze and saw the figure on the couch.

"Oh," she said. "Oh!"

She got up and went into the other room. In a moment she came back.

"You did your best to tell me, didn't you?" she said in a flat voice. "Well, tell me. Everything I suppose she just didn't fall."

"Never. We were so afraid we took particular care, all of us."

"What about that bruise on your shoulder?"

Jane flushed. "Oh, Kay told you? You want to know the truth? Eloise struck me."

Asey paused in the process of lighting his pipe.

"That's the truth," Jane said. "Monday. She was mad with me. She often was. She was jealous because she thought Mary cared more for me than for her. Mary didn't, of course, but—well—can't you see how hard it would be to be affectionate about Eloise? She—she clattered so. Everything she did or said was clutter. Then she'd be perfectly swell, like she was about my socking her the other night. And just as you thought how swell she really was, she'd tip the ink bottle over your knees, or something, and be more cluttery than ever. And Mary wasn't cluttery, and it was hard for her—"

"Tell me about those paths to the ice house," Asey said.

"I Drove Me Crazy"

I DON'T know anything about them," Jane told him. "I was scared to death to set foot off the place here, if you want to know. I—I can't explain, but there always seemed to be something so evil about those swamps, and the mists and everything. It's a queer place."

"You got that gun license 'cause you was scared?"

Jane nodded. "Mike said it was foolish and there was nothing to be afraid of, and then he realized how I felt. So he said he'd get me a gun, and it would make me feel better, even if I couldn't use it so well." She sighed. "After I learned more about shooting, he was going to get me a gun."

"Where'd you meet Mike, Jane, down on the ice house?"

"Truly, Asey. I never went near the place but once. I'm scared around here. Like Kay, I'm a city person. The country, quiet and noisy simply terrify me. I usually met Mike at the beach. He couldn't come here because Eloise raised such a rumpus. It was all open enough."

"I wonder what I can get?" Lane was annoyed. "What do you think?"

"Specifically, what?"

"Oh, meat and fish and vegetables."

"Obvious foods," Cummings said cheerfully. "See how it works out, Asey? Eloise eats full things—you tell me."

"You tell me, Asey said, "what the feller we feller feeds on, an' I'll pay your grocery bills for a year." Hamilton, bring Jane in, will you?" He lifted the curtain and peered outside. "The tourists seem to have let up."

AT GIBRALTAR.

History-minded people have old memories stirred by news that French warships have taken over naval defense of Gibraltar.

That great British stronghold commanding the western entrance of the Mediterranean is still under British command. British marksmen man the guns of the rock-fortress—one of the twin promontories called by the ancients the "Pillars of Hercules." And there are still British battleships in the Gibraltar basin. But the fortress no longer seems impregnable. The Italians and Germans, with the aid of their Spanish allies, have mounted modern guns on the neighboring shore. The German and Italian fleets are near by. And the British fleet, powerful as it is, has its strength scattered widely over the Mediterranean.

It is a critical situation. There might be a fight there as important historically as the famous Battle of Trafalgar, fought just outside of the Strait of Gibraltar by Napoleon and Nelson's British fleet in 1805, which began the French dictator's downfall.

A battle there might be also as important as the famous defeat of the Spanish Armada by the British in 1588, which launched the glory of the Elizabethan Age. It might rank with the naval Battle of Actium, in northwestern Greece, near Corfu, where a British fleet rides now. There in 31 B. C. Marc Antony fought with Cleopatra by his side, and Octavius Caesar won the mastery of the known world.

Or it might be as important as the great Battle of Salamis, where Themistocles and his Athenians in 480 B. C. destroyed the Persian fleet of Xerxes and paved the way for "The glory that was Greece."

ANOTHER PACIFIC AIRPORT

Work is to begin soon, it is reported, on preparation of an air base at Canton Island in the Pacific. When it is ready, it will be part of an extension of present Pan-American air service to the Orient. The great clipper planes already go on regular schedules to Hawaii, the Philippines and China. The new branch will go to New Zealand.

Canton Island has a sheltered lagoon nine miles long and five miles wide, which will make a fine harbor for the Clippers. The North Haven, a surface ship that carries the materials and workmen who build such an airport, is taking 314,000 separate items aggregating 5,000 tons, for houses, shops, a hotel, a pier, a radio station and power plants for lighting, pumping, refrigeration and communication.

This is one of the two islands which the United States and Great Britain are now going to control cooperatively, without settling the actual sovereignty of either of them. The proposed air base there is planned entirely for commercial purposes, though obviously if it became necessary it could be made serviceable for military operations, too.

FILM PROGRESS

Will H. Hays, film boss, has told what he thinks the public wants in movies, and his account does the public credit. Here are the items.

We want, he says, themes which show "man's long struggle for freedom and the hopes and aspirations of free men everywhere." We want Americanism portrayed in pictures of success attained by "the triumph of man's spirit over material obstacles." We want, along with our patriotism and idealism, realistic pictures showing the human problems of plain people. We want pictures making us familiar with the lives and customs of other nations and races, pictures dealing honestly with the great men and women of all nations, pictures especially enabling us to understand our sister Americas and to be understood by them, pictures which create anew for our present generation the great events and scenes of our national history.

This seems to be a strong and true statement. If Hollywood lives up to the specifications, both Hollywood and the rest of us will benefit.

MEETING WORKERS

A cruel schoolmaster in one of the novels of Charles Dickens had a neat way of combining learning and labor, with emphasis on the latter. He would make a boy spell "window" then order him to wash the windows. A good deal of whipping and general abuse attended this educational process.

The reader is reminded of the story by a news item from London which relates that educational authorities there call in "garbage men, postmen, parkkeepers, sewer-men, butchers and bakers to give first-hand information to children during lectures and lessons." The pupils fire questions at the "lecturers" and a good time is had by all.

It sounds like a practical method of teaching civics, presenting the children with first-hand information on such problems as food distribution and garbage disposal in a great city. That's what it would be in this country. But the classes are in London and their purpose, it is reported, is "to teach children self-expression by bringing them into closer contact with every-day-life." In any case, it should be instructive for both students and workmen. It may also greatly further the process, said to have begun in the world war, of breaking down the class distinctions which have survived in England through all the historic development of freedom and democracy.

Millions of Americans want to be supported by the government, and how the government itself will be supported doesn't interest them.

"Living in a goldfish bowl" is very risky nowadays—some college boy may swallow you for an appetizer.

The Chinese lately seem to be eating ginger instead of chop-suey.

OF YOURS

THE PERSISTENT DREAM STATE

You naturally think of heart disease as the most grave or dangerous of all diseases. From the standpoint of the organs of the body, heart disease does cause more deaths than any other ailment. However, once an individual knows he has heart disease and 'lives' within his strength, he may live 20 to 40 years afterward.

There is, however, a mental ailment that should receive the most earnest consideration of parents, teachers, and physicians which, if treated in its early stage, may result in a cure in the majority of cases. Undiscovered or neglected, this mental ailment sends more patients to mental hospitals than any other single ailment. I am referring to dementia precox, the ailment where the individual lives really two lives, one life amidst those about him and the other life in a world of his own. And this world of his means more to him than does the life about him.

All the unusual or queer things done by the dementia precox patient are neither unusual nor queer if it is just remembered that these queer and unusual things fit into the particular world in which he lives; the world that he has created for himself and, of course, into which he fits perfectly.

What must parents, teachers, and physicians do to prevent the development of dementia precox in children and young adults?

The Clinic of the Drs. Edward A. Strecker and Francis J. Braceland, Institute of the Pennsylvania Hospital, in the Philadelphia Number of Clinics of North America, says:

Prevention must be intensively cultivated during childhood and every child who presents dementia precox symptoms—"good," "queer," "shy," "reserved," "difficult," "unfriendly," "seclusive," etc. should be suspected of a possible development of dementia precox.

In the home, "parents must play no favorites," either in rewards or punishments. The extra ability or sociability of brothers or sisters should not be pointed out. The reason for punishment should be explained.

Unfortunately, many of these children are the "only" child, or are much younger than their brothers or sisters. Fortunately, the school puts all youngsters on the same level from the standpoint of reward and punishment but the Clinic advises that the reading matter of these youngsters should be supervised.

Personally, I believe the biggest factor in preventing dementia precox is group games where the youngster has to give and take. There is no "royal road" for him to tread when he is playing or mixing with others.

Health Booklets

Nine health booklets by Dr. Barton are now available for readers of the Kingston Daily Freeman. They may be obtained by sending 10 cents for each one desired to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y., mentioning the name of this newspaper. The booklets are: Eating Your Way to Health; The Common Cold; Why Worry About Your Heart?; Neurosis; Overweight and Underweight; Food Allergy; How Is Your Blood Pressure; Scourge (gonorrhoea and syphilis); and Chronic Rheumatism or Arthritis.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

April 21, 1919—Death of James P. McGuire of this city.

The Board of Public Works made arrangements to purchase a street flusher.

Lieut. Walter H. Gill and Miss Mabel Eckert, daughter of Mrs. C. W. Colclough, married at the home of the bride on Green street by the Rev. Dr. P. N. Chace.

Francis J. Waters, Jr., and Miss Rose Dutcher married in New York.

April 21, 1929—High water and a swift current held up navigation on the Hudson river.

Howard Wolven and Miss Hazel K. Dederick of Saugerties married here by the Rev. F. W. Moot of the Congregational Church.

Harry E. Brandon of Lawrence street and Miss Anna G. Sass of East Piermont street married by the Rev. Joseph A. Hubard of St. Peter's Church.

Edward Cragan of Wilbur avenue and Miss Jane Doyle of South Wall street married in St. Joseph's Church on April 20.

Henry Straley of Hasbrouck avenue and Miss Beatrice R. Kelly of Hunter street, married in St. Mary's Church.

Water was flowing over the spillway of the Ashokan reservoir.

Denver, Colo.—The national park service has announced a $1 automobile fee for cars visiting Grand Teton and Rocky Mountain National parks. Heretofore no entrance fee has been charged. There will be a 50 cent fee to enter Devil's Tower Monument in Wyoming. The announcement said the park service is attempting to make the parks "nearly self-supporting as possible." The $1 fee for Grand Teton will be waived if a car has visited Yellowstone National Park, where the entrance fee is $3. Or if the $1 has been paid at Grand Teton, this will be applied on the $3 charge at Yellowstone. The two parks adjoin in Wyoming.

The above, of course, is all "exaggerated." A big American war is F. D. R.'s real opportunity to come back for another four years. It brought Woodrow Wilson back in 1916; and it saved Lincoln in 1864.

Nude Hermit Moves On

Pugwash River, N. S. (UPI)—Civilization again has encroached on Auburn nude hermit. With the filling of a lake behind a new dam, the hermit was observed recently moving upstream on the American river. The man is always unclothed when seen, and inhabits a fleeting shack. He is reputed to be prospecting for gold.

Double Trouble

Pugwash River, N. S. (UPI)—Troubles never come singly to Ernest Mitchell, lumberman. First he was laid up with a cul hand. As soon as he was able to work he cut his foot and was off for five weeks. Then he slashed his other hand with an axe when he returned to work.

Mussolini's Reply to Peace Proposal Developed a Spirit of Hopefulness for the Long Run

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 21.—Whatever may be said by Premier Mussolini about the absurdity of President Roosevelt's peace proposal, the fact remains that the guiding force of that epochal effort by the United States will continue to influence European policy for many months, and perhaps years to come.

The fact that Herr Hitler is canvassing various small states and hopes to be able to present a list of 29 states which will say, presumably through their foreign ministers or ambassadors, that they do not fear attack is in itself an achievement which will have to be chalked up in favor of the American initiative. When the German chancellor goes to the trouble of getting assurances from 29 nations that they do not fear attack, it is tantamount to giving an assurance that Germany does not intend to administer an attack.

There will be many who will doubt the word of the German chancellor, but in a negotiation of the kind initiated by the President of the United States it is going to be necessary for the American government to take Herr Hitler literally. If, in other words, he presents evidence that nobody fears an attack, and by implication, that Germany herself does not intend to attack, it may well be asked, what would be the position of those same 29 countries and the rest of the world when, in the face of such an exchange with the President of the United States, territory is taken by force and another weak nation is robbed of its independence?

If, on the other hand, the exchange of messages leads to a world economic conference, and the war tension is eased, business in America and elsewhere in 1939 will improve materially, and just now that is what really interests cooperativists and isolationists alike in America.

Dinghy From Which Students Disappeared

The search for the three Bard College students who were believed drowned in the Hudson river, was abandoned today. Above is the dinghy, in which the youths embarked upon a fishing trip, as it was found washed upon the east bank of the river. Beside the boat is Alfred Plass of Barrytown, who was a member of the searching party that found the craft.

Award Returned In Pratt Case

Thursday afternoon the jury which heard the evidence in the action brought by George W. Pratt of Highland against Joseph Hasbrouck of Modena, returned a verdict in favor of plaintiff for the sum of $174.26, the amount sued for.

Plaintiff doing business under the name of George W. Pratt & Son, sued to recover the price of lumber which it was alleged had been taken by Mr. Hasbrouck and credited to the account of Mr. Harcourt when he left the farm of his grandfather, Mr. Hasbrouck and Mr. Pratt had both sold lumber to Harcourt. When Mr. Hasbrouck learned of the abandonment of the farm he asked Mr. Fowler, who was on the farm, about taking the lumber to apply on the bill of Harcourt. Mr. Hasbrouck testified he had been told to take the lumber, which he did, and credited Harcourt with the value. Later Mr. Pratt learned of the transaction and asked for the return of the lumber, claiming it had been his property and had been sold to Harcourt under a conditional sales contract. He sued in justice's court and was awarded a verdict. Mr. Hasbrouck appealed the case to county court. Michael Nardone appeared for plaintiff and David W. Corwin for the appellant.

A jury was taken Thursday afternoon in No. 46, William and Henry Robinson against Lloyd Plass, an appeal from justice's court in an action for work, labor and services. Michael Nardone for plaintiff and John Waddin for appellant. The trial was postponed until today after the jury was selected.

May Co-Operate

Frederick (P.-Canada) and the United States are planning to co-operate in war against the European spruce sawfly, said R. E. Balch, Dominion entomologist, here, on his return from a conference at Washington. Infestation of United States forests was reported less extensive than in Canada.

Ellenville Jail Cited in Report

Albany, April 21 (Special) — Recommendation that the village officials of Ellenville, Ulster county, be cited to show cause "why the Ellenville lockup should not be closed as inadequate and unsafe," is contained in a report of inspection of this jail by Mrs. Cecilia D. Patten, state correction Commissioner, and James McC. Shillinglaw, senior inspector.

The report, which has just been made public here by the commission, reads as follows:

"Since the last inspection, and in compliance with recommendations contained in the report made at that time, the lockup has been cleaned and repainted. At the time of this inspection it was in order except that the cot was missing from one cell. It had been broken by a disorderly prisoner and was being repaired."

"The aforementioned report of inspection contained two other recommendations—that a competent person remain constantly at the lockup whenever a person is detained—matron in the case of women prisoners"; and,

"Lodgers be excluded."

"Neither of these recommendations has been complied with. At the time of visitation on March 23rd—about 10 p. m.—there were seven (7) lodgers; three were in the so-called lodger's section (an improvised arrangement), two were in cells and two were on the floor outside the cells; and as we were leaving another applied to the police officer and was admitted. The officer said that if a prisoner were brought in he would be locked in one of the cells and the lodger occupant moved to the floor outside the cell."

"Supervision of prisoners is provided by occasional visits of the police officer during the night—perhaps three or four times—depending upon the condition of the prisoner. This is not sufficient as the building is not fire-resistant and should a fire occur, rescue of prisoners might prove difficult if not impossible."

Recommendation

"That the village officials be cited to show cause why the lockup should not be closed as inadequate and unsafe under the provisions of subdivision 8, section 46 of the Correction Law."

Gets Disappointing Reply

Ellinwood, Kans. (AP)—"If you're a girl, please write," said an oil well supply company employee in a note he wrote on a crate of equipment consigned to Arabia. "I am writing you because there are no girls in this bally country who could write you," said the reply that arrived months later. In the first place none of the women here can read or write. In the second place all of them except small babies are veiled. And in the third place they wouldn't be worth looking at even if they weren't veiled."

During 1938 railway purchases of fuel, materials and equipment amounted to $678,000,000, compared with $1,184,174,000 for 1937.

HELEN HAYES PLEADS FOR REFUGEES

Appearing before a Senate-House committee, Actress Helen Hayes (left), pleaded "as a mother" that Congress permit 20,000 German refugee children to enter the United States. Miss Hayes said only a mother could understand the "anguish that forces parents of these children to welcome the prospect of sending them into homes far away, and, perhaps, forever." Shown with Miss Hayes is Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.).

Attend Housing Guild Course

The question of "how to make it easier for the public to get more house for their money" was the basis of the 10-day intensive Housing Guild training course held at Atlantic City, under the auspices of Johns-Manville, and attended by William M. Mills, Kenneth H. Wood and Thomas Bohan of the Island Dock Lumber Co.

"The building industry has changed a great deal in recent years," Mr. Wood declared. "Today, through the use of merchandising methods such as those advocated by the National Housing Guild, we are equipped to sell the public not only individual materials but completely pre-priced and packaged houses."

"For example, not so long ago, a person interested in building a house had to deal with a variety of persons and agencies, namely: Architects, contractors, sub-contractors, financial agencies, materials dealers, etc. Today, under Housing Guild methods, we can take all of the details off the consumer's shoulders. He can come to us and select a house 'off our shelves' to fit his needs, and this house will only cost him so much per month. I. O. B. his building site. We have not taken over any of the duties of these various agencies, we simply deal with them for the consumer."

Intensive training in all of the phases of providing this type of service to the consumer featured the Housing Guild Course, according to Mr. Wood. Estimating, financing, the new types of materials, and other subjects taken up during the course were discussed, each by an expert.

The number of civil employees in the executive branch of the United States government during November and December of 1938 was 917,303. This compares with 917,760 as of November 11, 1918, the day the Armistice was signed.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland, April 21—The Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Killinder of Sloatsburg were Monday evening dinner guests of the Rev. and Mrs. D. S. Haynes.

Mrs. Max Gruber represented Vineyard Rebekah Lodge Thursday night at Olive Bridge when the members of Ulster District No. 2 recommended Mrs. Clara Thompson of Colonial Lodge as deputy for the district.

The reading and discussion of the third chapter, "The Family and the City," from the book, "The American City and Its Church," by Samuel C. Kincheloe, was the subject taken up at the Evening Reading Circle Monday evening when they met with Mrs. Charles Whittaker. During the business meeting the members voted to again hold the rummage sale with a tentative date of November 4. Anyone who has contributions at any time can have them called for by contacting a member. The hostess served sandwiches, cake and coffee to Mrs. Edgar Boyce, Mrs. Arthur Burrell, Mrs. Matthew Busch, Mrs. W. D. Corwin, Mrs. D. S. Haynes, Mrs. Elmer Randal, Mrs. C. W. Rathgeb, Mrs. Livingston Rhodes, Mrs. Oliver Tilton, Mrs. A. W. Lent, Mrs. Whittaker. At this time the Indians were joined by Matthew Busch, Mr. Lent, Mr. Tilton, Mr. Haynes and Mr. Whittaker. Guests were Miss Ada Van Nosstrand and Mrs. A. Squiers.

A meeting of the nurse committee for the town of Lloyd was called Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. James Calahan, president of the committee. Mrs. C. I. Richards, public health nurse, was in need of patterns for infants' garments and these were cut out for distribution. Mrs. Richards said there was a need for children's clothes of the pre-school age or from two to six years and boy's clothes in particular. Present were Mrs. James Swift, Mrs. Charles DuBois, Mrs. Elmer Randal, Mrs. Callahan, Mrs. Gay Bradt, Mrs. Richards and Miss Raymond.

Mrs. Correlia Hall of Sloatsburg is spending a few days with the Rev. and Mrs. D. S. Haynes.

Mrs. George Dean prepared the program on Spring presented at the meeting of the Music Study Club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. Blakely. Current music led by Mrs. K. D. W. was the opening number, followed by a piano solo in two numbers, "Spring Dance," Greig, "Sweet Fern," Ewing, Mrs. Seaman, Miss Jean Rogers of Marlborough.

Arthur T. Williams and Miss Marian Williams spent the weekend with friends in Saratoga.

Miss Louise Taylor returned Sunday from a vacation spent at her home in Gloversville. Miss Lois Welker came back Monday from the week spent at her home in Attica. Miss Welker was accompanied by Mrs. Lyman Tallman of Hyde Park whose daughter, Ruth Tallman, remained here with Mrs. Franklin Welker.

Mrs. Clarence W. Rathgeb and Miss Nancy Rathgeb returned Sunday from a week spent at Sherburne and were accompanied by Mrs. Rathgeb's mother, Mrs. A. Squiers.

The Rev. D. S. Haynes attended the spring meeting of North River Presbytery at Freedom Plains on Tuesday.

Misses Elizabeth Eddington of Bennington, Vt., and Ruth Foote of Saratoga were Sunday evening supper guests of Miss Marian Williams and that evening the young ladies left for their schools in New York area.

Miss Marie Van Wormer returned Sunday to her teaching of eighth grade and on Tuesday received word that her mother had fallen at the home in Slingerlands and broken her hip.

Outdoor Expert Discredits Animals as Weather Seers

Animals are no more expert in forecasting the weather than farmers, fishermen and housewives with washings to dry, according to the National Wildlife federation.

"If animals had the marvelous knowledge of impending weather changes," says David C. Aylward of the Museum of Comparative Zoology, Cambridge, Mass., president of the federation, "many wildlife tragedies would be averted. For example, in the duck traps of the Northwest, thousands of wildfowl nest each spring when the marshes are flooded and then, after the young are hatched, find themselves completely cut off from water as the shallow ponds become sun-baked flats."

"A late spring blizzard sometimes strikes the thickets with dead warblers and fly-catchers. Head winds have been fatal to large flocks of migrating birds. Ducks have lingered too long at their fall feeding grounds and have been frozen in the ice. Poison ivy, by the way, is a great boon to many birds that get overtaken by stormy weather. The waxy berries of poison ivy are good substitutes for insects, and are emergency rations in hard times."

"The notion that the thickness of the muskrat house or the amount of nuts stored by squirrels indicated the severity of an approaching winter has no scientific foundation."

"But I do believe that wildlife is weather-wise in about the same degree that we human beings are. The approach of a storm will cause herring gulls and other water birds to change their daily routine so as to avoid trouble, but by the time the birds are aware of something going to happen, any Boy Scout would know about it, too."

Three Willard Brothers Famous as Clock Makers

One of the most famous names among American clockmakers is that of Willard. Benjamin Willard was born in Framingham, Mass., in 1716. In a large family of children, three of them, Benjamin Jr., Simon and Aaron, became famous clockmakers. The earliest clocks of this family were made about 1755. The three sons, as they became proficient in the business, moved to nearby towns and set up establishments of their own.

Benjamin Jr. advertised his clocks as being "neatly cases cheaper than imported" and "Warranted to measure Time without Variation, and to go many Years without cleaning."

He also mentions "Musical clocks—which play a different tune each Day in the Week, on Sunday a Psalm Tune."

Aaron was especially noted for his fine long case clocks. The brothers made various kinds of timepieces, not only for the home but for church and other public places as well. They made eight-day clocks and those that would run a year with one winding.

MEMORIAL

HOUGHTALING—In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Grant Houghtaling, who entered into the harbor of perpetual peace five years ago today. God chose this day five years ago, when heaven's gates were opened. And a loving voice said "Come," with a farewell unspoken. Twas wrong, perhaps, to think of grief. Of that which brought him sweet relief.

Let us remember our Lord knew best.

And going to a peaceful rest, May his soul rest in peace.

Local Death RecordHITLER REVIEWS PARADE ON BIRTHDAY

Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany (hand raised) is shown in this radiophoto from Berlin as he reviewed a gigantic military parade in honor of his fiftieth birthday anniversary. The procession took five hours to pass the reviewing stand. Left to right behind Hitler are Field Marshal Goering, Grand Admiral Raeder, Col.-Gen. von Brauchitsch and Col.-Gen. Keitel.

K. of C. to Hold Annual Breakfast

Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, will hold its annual communion and breakfast April 30.

The communion will take place at the 8 o'clock Mass (daylight saving time) at the Church of the Holy Name at Wilbur. The Mass will be celebrated by the Rev. William P. T. Dooley, a member of the Knights of Columbus. A choir, consisting of members of the local council, will sing at the Mass.

Following the Mass there will be an automobile parade from the church to the Governor Clinton Hotel, where the breakfast will be held. Moving pictures will be taken at the church, during the parade, and at the hotel. Breakfast will be served promptly at 9:30 o'clock.

The speakers at the breakfast will be Ignatius M. Wilkinson, dean of the Fordham University School of Law, the Rev. Henry Herdgen, and the Hon. John T. Loughran, associate judge of the Court of Appeals.

The committee has arranged for transportation from the clubhouse to the church and from the church to the hotel. Any one desiring transportation is requested to telephone the club or contact one of the members of the transportation committee.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the general committee as well as from the members of the ticket committee.

The committees and their members are the following:

Bermuda's Horses

Many years ago, before railways replaced them, old horse buses were used for transportation in Bermuda. In the days when Mark Twain visited the islands the bus that plied between Hamilton and St. Georges sold passage to first, second and third class passengers. They sat in one compartment of the vehicle, but on the hills one found out the class distinction. The third-class passengers helped push the bus, the second-class ticket holders walked up the inclines, while the elite, the first-classers, sat in lonely seats within the bus. Only one horse bus is still in service. It runs between Somerset and Hamilton and return, but is a jolting ride that sometimes takes five hours.

GRANGE NEWSUlster

Perhaps you don't want a formal, expensive wedding—but you do want a lovely one! Then be beautifully, correctly informal.

Lovely is an informal wedding in the evening—you in a long white dress, the groom wearing a tuxedo. Or have a daytime garden ceremony—in which you can wear a dress of sheer summer fabric; the groom a dark coat and white trousers or an all-white suit.

Invitations? For a small wedding, invite friends by personal note, but if you have many guests send engraved invitations.

And the details of your attire—shall you wear a veil or hat? Correct and becoming to wear a finger-tip veil with a white dress—or if you wear a dinner dress at an evening wedding you may wear a small dressy hat or pretty headress. For a garden wedding, choose a hat, a short veil or a wreath.

Refreshments? For an afternoon wedding, tasty tea-time fare. A supper should be more elaborate include a hot dish or two.

How to plan a more formal ceremony? Our 32-page booklet gives etiquette, correct dress for all types of weddings, for bridal party and guests. Tells how to budget expenses, who pays for what.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of PLANNING AND BUDGETING YOUR WEDDING to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

How Women
in Their 40's
Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 35 to 52), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about her figure, who has a pen, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moodiness. Take Lydia Elizur's "WOMAN'S GUIDE TO LIFE," and a reliable "WOMAN'S HANDBOOK." These Composed, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more energy to enjoy life and assist in getting jittery out of those uncomfortable symptoms that often accompany change of life.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters
Asey Mary, Cape Cod steamer.
Jane, ward of the murdered woman.

Testerday: Eloise is found dead at the foot of the cellar steps. Asey thinks she was pushed.

Chapter 41

Stop, Look, Grab!
HAMILTON wandered around, peering at the old book case whose shelves were filled with preserves and "put-up" jars of vegetables and fruit. He even removed the lid from the old stone crack, and after sniffing at its contents, nastily replaced it. The odor of sauerkraut filled the cellar.

"Let's get back upstairs," Jane said. "I don't see anything here that's doing us any good. If she was killed, she was killed, and we might as well get to the Warren girl and get it over with."

"What?" Asey asked as they climbed back to the kitchen.

Jane Warren. She came in the house after Eloise did. I saw her. She was here a couple of minutes, I saw her come and I saw her go."

"You didn't tell us about that." "You didn't," Jane said tartly, "give me any chance to. Don't you want to amend your ideas, and say she fell or tripped, instead of was purged?"

Asey shook his head. "Nope. Doc, how did Jane take it, when you told her Eloise was sick?"

"She said Eloise had eaten any quantity of lobster salad and peach shortcake with whipped cream for dinner." Cummings replied, "and had been taking Lydia mint by the pound ever since. I should say that Jane was philosophical, and more or less unmoved about it all. Eloise stomach and its eccentricities are simply a closed book to anyone who ever slept under the same roof with her, you know."

"Didn't seem to see anything strange about your comin', or your wife's comin'?"

"She said it was thoughtful, and that she couldn't possibly have managed the tourists alone."

"Bronzing it out," Lane said. "Remember what she threatened. Asey. One more word from Eloise about Mike Slade—"

"You're so obvious, Lane." Cummings began to put things back into his bag. "I know you'd say that. I've been waiting for you to say it. Tell me, what sort of things do you eat, usually?"

"I eat what I can get," Lane was annoyed. "What do you think?"

"Specifically, what?"

"Oh, meat and fish and vegetables—"

"Obvious foods," Cummings said cheerfully. "See how it works out, Asey? Eloise eats ful' things—then gets the idea."

"You tell me," Asey said, "what the feller we want feeds on, an' I'll pay your grocery bills for a year. Hamilton, bring Jane in, will you?" He lifted the curtain and peered outside. "The tourists seem to have left."

He led Jane into the dining room and motioned her to a seat from which she could not possibly see the blanket-covered figure on the living room couch.

"How's Eloise? Was it indigestion again? And Asey, wasn't she sporting about that sock? I've felt a heast. Sara laid me out in lavender, in a few well-chosen words. Oh, I'm so tired!"

"Jane," Asey said, "what'd you come in doors for, just after Eloise?"

"Cards. Shop cards, you know. Business cards. Those tourists were yelling for 'em, and the ones in the barn had all been taken off."

"Where were they?"

"Appendicitis?"

"The cards? In the corner cupboards here. See, I spilled some on the floor. I was in such a rush. D'you know what Eloise said? She said if I could sell that oak chest, I could have the money for myself, and I did! To a friend of General Philbrick's. Now I have a dowry, isn't that swell? Mike told you about the man who brought his pictures—"

"Did you go into the kitchen when you came in?"

"No. I just got the cards and went out. Asey—" she looked at him, "whatever's the matter now? Does Eloise think she has appendicitis again? Because she did have an appendix out, and Mary has a thing signed by the doctor saying so. She had to get it, because Eloise has fits of pain, and they just opened her up and peered at her appendix, and left it there. Why, I can't imagine I should think it would be one of those things you'd just naturally sense, whether you had an appendix or not, no matter how much you mistrusted doctors. Asey, we're going to be married next week. Did Mike tell you?"

"Jane," Asey said, "Eloise has had an accident."

"Who's scared of '13?"

Murray, Ky., Apr. 19.—The number "13" has no terrors for Waylon Rayburn, former Kentucky legislator. Rayburn said on February 13 he was the 13th person to pay county taxes and that the taxes amounted to exactly $13.13. He said he had been paying taxes for 13 years. And, yes, there are 13 letters in his name.

A verbal understanding is all right, so long as both parties continue to think they have the best of the bargain.

"Why, what are you crying so for, sonny?" asked dad of his four-year-old heir.

"I heard you say you was gonna git a new baby an' I sposme that means you'll have to trade me in on it," sobbed the little chap.

Every man has two ends, one an-which to sit, the other with which to think. Our success depends upon which end we use most.

Heads we win, tails we lose!

Can You Remember When?

The grocer gave you a sack of candy or a cigar when you paid the bill?

Milk was delivered to your door for five cents a quart?

People placed their credit ahead of everything else?

Medicine shows made week-end sales in small towns?

Apples, parsnips, celery and carrots were buried for winter storage?

Every small town supported a band?

Grandma knit gloves and wristlets for all her grandchildren?

If you can, brother or sister, you are aging very rapidly.

Naomi—I can't see what in the world she wants to marry that man Brown for. He has a wooden leg, a glass eye, false teeth, and wears a wig.

Jimmie—it must be the feminine instinct to hanker after remanents.

The fact that swing music is on the way out is of no more importance than when swing came in.

"Yeah," said the westerner, "we're sure plenty tough out here, stranger. Why, every time I kill a man I carves a notch on my revolver butt." "Well," replied the stranger, "you can't scare me, for you haven't done much killing, I see. That revolver butt of yours hasn't a single notch on it." "Yeah, I know it's stranger. I have to put a new butt on every week."

When you have ten minutes for uninterrupted thinking, ask yourself the question am I making a living, or am I making a life?

Panting and perspiring, two Irishmen on a tandem bicycle at last got to the top of the steep hill. "That was a stiff climb, Pat," said the first. "Sure and it was that," said Pat. "And if I hadn't kept the brake on we would have gone backward."

The antics of jitterbugs have long since lost their novelty and the sophisticated play spots are putting on Virginia Reels and other old-fashioned square dances.

We of the war generation, however, will continue to swing the good old one-step, which serves with all music except the waltz, for what we know as dancing.

A burglar, who has entered an unsuccessful merchant's house at midnight, was disturbed by the awakening of the occupant of the room he was in. Drawing his gun, he said: "If you stir, you are a dead man. I'm hunting for your money." "Let me get up and strike a light," said the merchant, "and I'll hunt with you."

The modern system of education is turning out all right. Our second-grader comes home so fired up of playing that she coaxes for a chance to wipe the dishes.

"Don't argue, I promised Barbara to get them—"

Planthaber Runs 112 for Record; Champions Fight Tonight

Billiard Champion Replaces Tellier's Last Year's Mark

Title for City High Run Was Held by Andrew Ponzi, Former World's Champion

Fred Planthaber, who recently won the city billiard title, walked away last night at the Kaslich Billiard Parlor with an all time city record for high run. In an open game with Norman Niles, Planthaber pocketed a high run of 112 to outclass the former high run of 65 established by Julius Tellier last year.

Nick Kaslich, proprietor of the parlor, said that the new mark is the highest run ever made on any of his tables and in all probability is the highest that will be made in a good many more years.

A good many years ago, Andrew Ponzi, former world's champion, is credited with a run of 108 and Erwin Rudolph, who masqueraded as the Masked Marvel, succeeded in pocketing 99.

The Ponckhockie cueist waded through over eight racks before he scratched on the 112th ball.

Ten Broeck Stars In First Outdoor K.I.S. Track Trials

Potentially, a new star was found yesterday afternoon in the first of a series of track trials for the Kingston High School cinder sportsmen. The up and coming threat is Culver Ten Broeck, the lean and lanky boy from Port Ewen.

Ten Broeck amazed the local mentors, G. Warren Kias and Lorraine Connick, who supervised the drill, by placing first in the javelin throw and the shot-put. In the latter, Culver whizzed the disc for a distance of 39 feet, 2 inches. And in the javelin trial, marked out a 136 feet, 6 inches.

In the 440 yard dash Bill "Curly" Cole paced the runners with Johnny Ennis and Kippy Parslow following in that order. The time was 51.5. Joe Beirach, a star of last year's successful squad, copped the half mile jaunt in 2:10.2. Pat Bowers and Wally Wallman made up for the first three.

Four heats were run off in the 100 yard dash. Al Nussbaum, Kenny Douglas, Jack Fallon and Bill Tucker were the first men in each heat. Nussbaum made it in 11.2 and he was followed by Dodd and Jack Sawyer. Douglas, followed by Chris Perry and Jim Collins, sprinted the distance in 11.4. Jack Fallon tied Nussbaum's mark at 11.2. Fallon's followers were Frank Short and Jack Roosa. Bill Tucker made the best showing at 10.9 and he promises to be a starter this season. Ed Terwilliger and Roger Goodsell who was tied with Katchigian finished up.

Ken Douglas, one of the mainstays last year, topped the high-jumpers at 5 feet. Horace Churchwell and Dick Tevney tied at 4 feet, 10 inches.

Ten Broeck who made 136 feet, 6 inches in the javelin was followed by Hofzeller at 14 feet, 9 inches and Roger Goodsell at 103 feet, 4 inches. The final trial was again annexed by Ten Broeck who made 38 feet, 2 inches at the shot. Urban Halz made 36 feet, 11 inches and Larkin 36 feet.

More trials are scheduled for today providing the weather is suitable.

Clermonts and Crusaders To Meet for Supremacy Of Gold Medal Tourny

Rain Subsides, Play Resumes To Tight Scores

(By The Associated Press)

This major league baseball season is scarcely half a week old and already has given more tight fits than a shoe store.

The relentless rainmaker cut yesterday's card to five games, but three of these were 20 shutouts, another was a 14-inning 8-7 grind and the fifth was a 5-3 affair. In the 10 games so far only two have finished with a margin of more than two runs separating the opposing clubs.

If this proves anything, which over the long haul ahead may be a subject for contention, it is that there is a lot of life left in some tough old pitching wings.

The prize performance yesterday was a three-hit sting by Louis William Fette, a durable 32-year-old right-hander, who bears much of the Boston Bees' hopes on his chunky frame. Shattering any doubts that he could maintain the pace he has set for two years with Boston, Fette held Philadelphia's impotent Phillies to a shutout.

No lengthy speaking program is planned, but Mr. Keresman is arranging to have three high class vaudeville acts out of New York for entertainment. Dancing will follow the regular program.

The annual election of officers of the Kingston Bowling Association will be held on Friday, May 5, at the Y. M. C. A. Every bowling captain in the city is entitled to a vote and is invited to attend.

The City Bowling League already has assessed each of its member teams a nominal amount to defray expenses for the entertainment and music. The Silver Palace teams will do likewise with the association paying a proportionate share of expenses.

Tickets for the event will be released in a few days and President Keresman urges all captains to canvass their individual bowlers in order to be able to report on May 5.

Silver Palace Finals Tonight

The Purple Division of the Silver Palace League roll the last games of the season in what promises to be a hotly contested battle for first place. Three teams are in position for the honors.

The match of the evening will be the Empire Liquors vs. Millards and action is promised. The Central Lunch engages a weaker opponent and have the best opportunity to win the lead.

George Jasper Caster, who is nearing his 30th birthday and has been knocking around in and out of the majors since getting his first trial with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1934, provided the A's with a four-hit game which sparked as bright as old Connie Mack's eyes in the day's third shoutout.

It was at the expense of the Washington Senators and Jim Deshong, who at 28 is one of the oldest pitchers on the Nationals' staff. Deshong gave up only three hits in six innings, but this was sufficient for Catcher Earlie Brucker to score one run and bat in another for the Athletics' markers.

Luke Hamlin gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a seven-hit pitching job as they beat the New York Giants 5-3, chiefly because of the wildness of Hal Schumacher. His arm evidently not fully mended by an operation last winter, Schumacher gave four walks and a wild pitch in addition to eight hits during his six-inning tour.

The pitching wasn't so prudel at Detroit, where the Tigers got 19 hits and the Chicago White Sox nine, but the battle was longer and harder than all the rest. A home run by Hank Greenberg in the 14th gave the Tigers their second victory of the start.

Baton Rouge, La., April 21 (AP)—Billie Brown, the "baby" member of the 1936 United States Olympic team, may be the sensation of the current track season.

Brown was a spindling high school lad of Baker, La., just 17 years old, when he went to Berlin to represent Uncle Sam in the hop, step and jump. He was the youngest member of the American team.

Brown's finest leap in that event was 49 feet, 10 inches, good enough to have won points in the Olympics, but when he performed before Hitler the best he could do was 47 feet, 1 inch, for eighteenth place.

Now, he is a sophomore at Louisiana State University.

Brown has made only one appearance as a varsity competitor for LSU, in the triangular meet with Rice Institute and the University of Texas last week, but made a prodigious broad jump mark of 25 feet, 4½ inches, a little more than a foot under Jesse Owens' world record of 26 feet, 8½ inches.

He won the 100-yard dash in the good time of 9.6 seconds and tied for first in the high jump at 6 feet 3 inches. He and a teammate were the only ones left in the high jump at that height and they didn't try for a better mark. Brown also anchored the Yanks' winning 440-yard relay team.

Brown, growing fast and now standing 6 feet, 3 inches and weighing 160 pounds, has done the 220-yard dash in 21.2 seconds and the 220-yard low hurdles in 24.2. He is expected to perform next in the Drake relays at Des Moines April 28-29.

New Squashes
Table Treat

CROOKNECK, PATTY PAN SQUASHES AND VEGETABLE MARROW.

Summer squashes and vegetable marrows are becoming staple articles in the summer table after a slow progress towards popularity.

They must be cooked quickly and lifted and drained before they disintegrate. Served with butter and have a delicate flavor and are much liked when known. Another excellent way and one which preserves the substances of this rather intangible vegetable is frying in batter like eggplant, which it much resembles in delicacy of flavor.

The marrows are a variety of summer squash growing to huge size. They may be used when only a few days old and a few inches long. Boiled and served with a butter sauce, they are a revelation in tenderness and flavor.

The culture is the same as for cucumbers—warm, well-drained soil, thoroughly enriched and with a plentiful supply of moisture. The same army of bugs menaces the marrow and summer squash that attacks the melon and cucumber and winter squash. Protect by the same methods and poisons. Plant marrows and summer squashes only after the ground warms up.

Plant seed sparingly in rows and thin to 2 inches apart. When leaves reach considerable size, thin again to 6 inches apart. Cut matured leaves as needed for the table. Chard benefits from fast growth; this means plenty of moisture, good cultivation and sufficient plant food.

Although it is usually grown for the "greens" only, the midribs and stems are deliciously edible if cooked in the manner of asparagus, and served in cream sauce or butter. They have a delicate flavor, peculiarly their own. Do not overcook chard.

New flowers are always interesting, but no doubt there are hundreds of old-timers which would be new to you. It is fun to try out some of these each year.

Garden Pays Him Well

Hillsboro, N. C. (AP)—Jack Finley, 13, kept books and found that a garden plot 105 feet square paid him at the rate of 80 cents an hour for 69 hours of labor spent tending it. He sold $73.55 worth of onions, cabbage, potatoes, beets, lettuce, peas, corn, tomatoes, beans, cucumbers, salinity, squash, turnips and watermelons. Seed, fertilizer and other items ran his total cost up to $17.35, leaving a profit of $56.20.

Wouldn't Talk

London (AP)—Brought to court by a maintenance order, a married couple testified they communicated with each other only by slips of paper since 1937 although they lived in the same flat.

Senate Approves Wicks Measure

Albany, April 21 (Special) — Senate approval has been given to the bill of Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, providing that rules, regulations and acts of a civil service commission shall be subject to review on facts and law by a court of competent jurisdiction.

It is also provided in this measure that the court may substitute its discretion in place of the commission's in arriving at a determination.

Also passed by the Senate and sent to the Assembly for approval is the Wicks bill amending the children's court act, providing for payment of bills by a city treasurer for care and maintenance of children committed by a children's court judge to a public welfare commission within a city welfare district.

Boon in Bibles

New York (AP)—China and Japan are still buying Bibles in spite of war, says the American Bible Society. The Chinese bought from the Bible Society more whole Bibles in 1938 than ever before in their history, it says, and Japan bought almost ten per cent more volumes of Scripture, including Bibles, Testaments and Gospel Portions than the year before. The society's total distribution of scriptures in China last year was 1,395,515 and in Japan, 703,068.

Steam locomotives on the railroads decreased from 60,572 at the beginning of 1930 to 46,342 on January 1, 1938.

Dinghy From Which Students Disappeared

The search for the three Bard College students who were believed drowned in the Hudson river, was abandoned today. Above is the dinghy, in which the youths embarked upon a fishing trip, as it was found washed upon the east bank of the river. Beside the boat is Alfred Plass of Barrytown, who is a member of the searching party that found the craft.

Award Returned In Pratt Case

Thursday afternoon the jury, which heard the evidence in the action brought by George W. Pratt of Highland against Joseph Hascrook of Modena, returned a verdict in favor of plaintiff for the sum of $171.25, the amount sued for.

Plaintiff, doing business under the name of George W. Pratt & Son, sued to recover the price of lumber which it was alleged had been taken by Mr. Hascrook and credited to the account of Mr. Harcourt, when he left the farm of his grandfather. Mr. Hascrook and Mr. Pratt had both sold lumber to Harcourt, when Mr. Hascrook learned of the abandonment of the farm he asked Mr. Fowler, who was on the farm, about taking the lumber to apply on the bill of Harcourt Mr. Hascrook testified he had been told to take the lumber, which he did, and credited Harcourt with the value. Later Mr. Pratt learned of the transaction and asked for the return of the lumber, claiming it had been his property and had been sold to Harcourt under a conditional sales contract.

He sued in justice's court and was awarded a verdict. Mr. Hascrook appealed the case to county court. Michael Nardone appeared for plaintiff and David W. Corwin for the appellant. A jury was taken Thursday afternoon in No. 46, Williams and Henry Robinson against Lloyd Plass, an appeal from justice's court in an action for work, labor and services. Michael Nardone appeared for plaintiff and John Wadlin for appellant. The trial was postponed until today after the jury was selected.

International Polo Matches to Open At Meadowbrook

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, April 21 (AP)—Courtiers continue to arrive every few days from the west, flinging themselves from their lathered ponies to shout that the British are coming and to warn the American polo set that the international matches at Meadowbrook next month are going to be hotter than a branding iron.

The relay of polo Paul Revere is necessary, because for 25 years there have been nothing but false alarms. Tommy Hitchcock and his fellow defenders of American polo supremacy have grown so accustomed to these wild rumors about the Redcoats that they are difficult to rouse by ordinary means.

But this time it seems to be on the level. The British, after months of quiet practice out on the coast, really are coming east with a polo team. From every account, they have both the players and the horses.

Further, say our informants, the invaders are showing no symptoms of the famous "amateur spirit" which is supposed to animate all British sports endeavors and which has proved such a serious handicap to John Bull's athletes on past occasions. Why, declare the alarmists, these polo players are acting just like Americans. This evidently is a threat not to be dismissed lightly.

They have four cracking good players in Gerald Baldwin, Aidan Roark, Eric Tyrrell-Martin and Bob Skene, the last a newcomer from Australia who has been so impressive in practice matches that he already is being conceded a minor goal rating by next year.

All except Skene have played so much on this side in recent seasons that they are thoroughly adept at the "American style" game, which in the last decade has borrowed important features from football and ice hockey, as well as free-style wrestling. Skene, from all accounts, is catching on remarkably fast and by June will be ready to risk his neck against any man's.

Miniature Lodge Displayed Officers Elected By Presbyterians

A hand made miniature hunting lodge, completely furnished, is attracting much attention in the window of the F. W. Diefenbach sporting goods store at 702 Broadway.

The lodge was constructed by John Tease of Bloomington, and furnished in every detail makes a very attractive window display.

Reopens Beauty Salon

The Windsor Beauty Salon, formerly located at 11 Broadway, has reopened in a new location at 75 Broadway with Bell's barber shop. Irving Bell, manager of the salon, will be associated with his father, Sam Bell, in the new location.

The national traffic death rate for each 100,000 people in 1938 was 14.5.

Three trustees and four deacons were elected Thursday evening at the annual congregational meeting of the Rondout Presbyterian Church, and reports of the various organizations of the church were received, showing that during the past year the church had been very active.

Henry C. Connolly, Dorf E. Monroe and Charles A. Terwilliger were elected trustees for terms of three years each, and Harold Davis, Byron V. Stevens, Samuel H. Peyer and Roger Goodsell were elected deacons of the class of 1942.

Reports of the various church organizations were made by Miss

Grace H. Terwilliger for the Ladies' Aid Society; Mrs. I. W. Scott of the Woman's Missionary Society; Mrs. George W. Sumpter for the Service Club; H. L. Van Deusen for the Men's Club; Fred L. Van Deusen for the Sunday school; Miss Mary McCausland for the Junior Guild.

I. W. Scott gave an interesting report of the meeting of North River Presbytery, held in Freedoms Plains last Tuesday, when the pastor-elect, the Rev. D. Linton Doherty, was received into the Presbytery and the date for his installation as pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church was arranged.

The annual meeting followed the serving of a chicken pie supper by the Ladies' Aid Society.

The North Carolina strawberry belt reported 1939 production conditions were almost ideal.

Lots Down His Hair
Pueblo, Colo. (AP)—One nationally-known pianist of the concert stage has earned the reputation of a "regular guy" in Pueblo. After a brilliant concert with the Pueblo Symphony orchestra he joined strangers at a night club and after a couple of friendly cocktails with the late stay-outers he took over the piano stool and gave them a treat in swing and jazz.

High School Group Attends Field Day

Thirty-one students of Kingston High School accompanied by three members of the faculty attended an English Field Day at New Paltz today which was attended by representatives from 24 schools in the Hudson Valley and metropolitan area. The program included round table conferences and contests.

Those making the trip included Rose Abernethy, Flora Jane Allyn, Clayton Brower, Charles Capp, Priscilla DuMont, Charles Hawker, Helen Frye, Frederick Libert, Faith Glenwood, Isabelle Gulman, Leo Herbert, Herbert Larsen, Elbert Loughran, Ivan Mollott, Genevieve Monteleone, Rita Moyer, Beatrice Moses, Laura Nickett, Wallace Pfeiffer, Boris Pope, Florence Smith, Pauline Smith, Jean Sobsey, Justin Lowe, Helen Schmidmayer, Maxine Taylor, Alma Viglielmo, Roger Freeland and Donald Weeks. The group will be accompanied Massell, John McCullum, Margaret by Miss Ethel M. Hull, Miss Madeleine Tarrant and Miss Marian Healy.

Package Party Sunday

Workmen's Circle, Branch No. 125, will sponsor a package party Sunday, April 23, at the Uptown Community Center at 7:30 p. m. A concert, consisting of local talent, will follow. All friends are urged to come for the fun and refreshments. There will be no admission charge.

Atharacton Rebekah Lodge No. 357, will hold a card party and food sale in Mechanics Hall, 14 Henry street, Thursday night, April 24, under the auspices of the degree staff. The public is invited. Mrs. Leah Jones and Miss Lina Wolen are chairmen.

Vassar Choir Here Tonight

Under the auspices of the First Presbyterian Church, the Vassar choir concert will be held this evening in the auditorium of the St. James M. E. Church. Those who have already purchased tickets for this event are requested to note that the concert will not be held at the high school, as previously announced. The program is the same as that to be given by the choir in Town Hall, New York city, April 29. People who haven't as yet secured their tickets may do so through either the Rev. William J. McVey or Fred Greene, 173 O'Neil street, telephone 88.

Bar Mitzvah

The Bar Mitzvah of Alvin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Parmett, will take place at the Congregation Agudas Achim, Saturday morning, April 22, at 10 o'clock. Members and friends are cordially invited to attend. After the services refreshments will be served downstairs at the synagogue meeting hall.

Wife Of Explorer To Speak At Y.W. Friendship Luncheon

Mrs. Carl Akeley, widow of the African explorer and scientist, will speak at the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday, May 3 at another in the series of Friendship luncheons sponsored by that organization.

Mrs. Akeley's thrilling lectures are not only illustrated by her own remarkable motion pictures, and slides, but by Carl Akeley's own famous gorilla movies, the only successful movies ever made of gorillas in their natural state.

Mary L. Jobe Akeley belongs to that band of fearless women who have not merely accompanied their men to the remote danger spots of the globe, but have carried on the work of their male companions when illness, accident, even death, have felled them. Before she married the great naturalist and African explorer, she had well proven her resourcefulness and courage. When Carl Akeley set out for Africa on his greatest, and what proved to be his last, expedition, he married and took with him as expedition secretary and safari manager, this intrepid woman. He little knew she was to complete his crowning work.

Mrs. Akeley, who was educated at Bryn Mawr College and Columbia University, holds both Master's and Doctor's degrees. She is the author of four books, "Carl Akeley's Africa," "Restless Jungle," "Lions, Gorillas and Their Neighbors" and "Adventures in the African Jungle."

Mrs. Akeley has brought back a treasure of photographs and observations rare enough to whet the envy of any explorer. In words that stir sharp wonder, she portrays a gloriously colored panorama of that bright, strange land of thrills and heart break, adventure and courage.

Reservations for the luncheon of the club may be made through the office of the Y. W. C. A.

Port Ewen NewsPan American Day Observed*Princess Elizabeth Is 13 Years Old, Has Big Tea Party

Windsor, England, April 21 (P.T.)—Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the crown of the world's greatest empire, came of teen age today, and was hostess at a five o'clock tea to celebrate her 13th birthday in a "grownup" manner.

Elizabeth received a box of silk stockings—real long ones—from her mother, a symbol of the "young lady" status she is achieving. From her father there was another pearl for her necklace.

In the last year the girl, tall and a bit gangling, has discarded half socks and hair ribbons. She wears her brown bobbed hair with a clip.

Diamond Bracelet

The king also gave his daughter a diamond bracelet while her grandmother, Queen Mother Mary, gave a silver dressing set. From Uncle Edward and aunt Wallis—the Duke and Duchess of Windsor—came a movie camera.

There were two big cakes—one to be cut at the birthday party and the other to go to children's hospitals.

Elizabeth made out the guest list which included members of the Girl Guides' Patrol, composed of daughters of the palace's titled staff, and Prince Edward and Princess Alexandra, children of the Duke and Duchess of Kent.

King George and Queen Elizabeth were likely to look in on the games preceding tea and be present when the princess blows out the 13 candles.

Second in Command

The princess is second in command of the Girl Guides' Patrol.

Trained Domestics Urged to Register

While the call for experienced workers in all lines is fairly constant at the local office of the New York State Employment Service, 243 Fair street, the chief demand is for trained domestics, according to the manager, Kenneth A. Simpson.

"Qualified cooks, maids and laundresses can be placed in either part-time or permanent employment within a short time, as a rule," Mr. Simpson declared.

"From time to time we also receive orders from employers for experienced housekeepers, butlers, caterers, waitresses, chauffeurs, gardeners and others."

"Unemployed men and women of all ages who have had experience in domestic service of any kind should register with us at once for jobs, if they have not already done so. Those who already have registered should remember that our active files are cleared once a month. Therefore, it is necessary for the applicant to report each month. Otherwise, the applicant's registration card, with his or her qualifications for employment, will become inactive. Reinstatement in the active file is effected by reregistering for employment."

Parent-Teacher Ass'nLake Katrine

The regular monthly meeting of the Lake Katrine P. T. A. was held at the schoolhouse Tuesday evening with the president, Mrs. R. Van Etten, presiding.

The meeting opened with the singing of songs and salute to the flag.

Mrs. Krom and Mrs. Smith gave the financial report of the plays which were held at the Grange Hall April 12, the proceeds of which will be used for playground equipment.

Visitors from the Mt. Marion unit were present, also three distinguished members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, E. Wortman, the president, introduced the commander, Charles B. Skane, the past commander, Mr. G. Decker, and then gave an instructive talk on the Bicycle Campaign Club, which the Veterans are sponsoring.

The contest was staged at the suggestion of Miss Lauri K. Kennedy, home economist, who lectured on kitchen economics during the recent cooking school sessions. On the final day of the cooking school, Miss Kennedy announced to the audience that an award would be made to the woman who presented her impression of the cooking school in the best manner through the medium of a letter. According to Mr. Craft there were 125 replies to this offer and "it was a tough job to judge the best letter."

Another guest speaker was Mrs. Joseph Craig, Ulster County P. T. A. finance chairman, who gave an informal talk on the "New Vocational School" and guidance for the rural child, which was inspiring and interesting.

A rising vote of thanks was given to the speakers and refreshments were served.

Girl Guides, like American Girl Scouts, learn handicraft, how to tie knots, make beds, build campfires, send wig-wag signals and give first aid. Elizabeth hopes to pass the first-class test this year and be promoted to patrol leader.

The princess also collects stamps, swims, knits and plays the piano but her greatest enjoyment are riding, golfing with her father, angling in Scotland's streams or camping.

She has started studying constitutional history, learning the part the throne plays in the empire, and is continuing with French, German and Spanish. But mathematics is a bore.

Under the tutelage of "mummy" (Queen Elizabeth) and "grandma queen" (Queen Mother Mary) she has acquired poise. She is guarded against too much public applause but has mastered "mummy's" backhand gesture for acknowledging it.

Ellenville Jail Cited in Report

Albany, April 21 (Special) — Recommendation that the village officials of Ellenville, Ulster county, be cited to show cause "why the Ellenville lockup should not be closed as inadequate and unsafe" is contained in a report of inspection of this jail by Mrs. Cecilia D. Patten, state correction Commissioner, and James McC. Shillinglaw, senior inspector.

The report, which has just been made public here by the commission, reads as follows:

"Since the last inspection, and in compliance with recommendations contained in the report made at that time, the lockup has been cleaned and repainted. At the time of this inspection it was in order except that the cot was missing from one cell. It had been broken by a disorderly prisoner and was being repaired.

"The aforementioned report of inspection contained two other recommendations—"that a competent person remain constantly at the lockup whenever a person is detained—intron in the case of women prisoners"; and "

"Lodgers be excluded."

"Neither of these recommendations has been complied with. At the time of visitation on March 23rd—about 10 p. m.—there were seven (7) lodgers; three were in the so-called lodger's section (an improvised arrangement), two were in cells and two were on the floor outside the cells; and as we were leaving another applied to the police officer and was admitted.

The officer said that if a prisoner were brought in he would be locked in one of the cells and the lodger occupant moved to the floor outside the cell.

"Supervision of prisoners is provided by occasional visits of the police officer during the night—perhaps three or four times—depending upon the condition of the prisoner. This is not sufficient as the building is not fire-resistant and should a fire occur, rescue of prisoners might prove difficult if not impossible.

Recommendation
"That the village officials be cited to show cause why the lockup should not be closed as inadequate and unsafe under the provisions of subdivision 8, section 46 of the Correction Law.

Gets Disappointing Reply

Ellinwood, Kans. (AP)—"If you're a girl, please write," said an oil well supply company employee in a note he wrote on a crate of equipment consigned to Arabia. "I am writing you because there are no girls in this bally country who could write you," said the reply that arrived months later. "In the first place none of the women here can read or write. In the second place all of them except small babies are veiled. And in the third place they wouldn't be worth looking at even if they weren't veiled."

During 1938 railway purchases of fuel, materials and equipment amounted to $678,000,000, compared with $1,184,174,000 for 1937.

HELEN HAYES PLEADS FOR REFUGEES

Appearing before a Senate-House committee, Actress Helen Hayes (left), pleaded "as a mother" that Congress permit 20,000 German refugee children to enter the United States. Miss Hayes said only a mother could understand the "anguish that forces parents of these children to welcome the prospect of sending them into homes far away, and, perhaps, forever." Shown with Miss Hayes is Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.).

Attend Housing Guild Course

The question of "how to make it easier for the public to get more house for their money" was the basis of the 10-day intensive Housing Guild training course held at Atlantic City, under the auspices of Johns-Manville, and attended by William M. Mills, Kenneth H. Wood and Thomas Bohan of the Island Dock Lumber Co.

"The building industry has changed a great deal in recent years," Mr. Wood declared. "Today, through the use of merchandising methods such as those advocated by the National Housing Guild, we are equipped to sell the public not only individual materials but completely pre-priced and packaged houses."

"For example, not so long ago, a person interested in building a house had to deal with a variety of persons and agencies, namely: Architects, contractors, sub-contractors, financial agencies, materials dealers, etc. Today, under Housing Guild methods, we can take all of the details off the consumer's shoulders. He can come to us and select a house 'off our shelves' to fit his needs, and this house will only cost him so much per month f. o. b. his building site. We have not taken over any of the duties of these various agencies, we simply deal with them for the consumer."

Intensive training in all of the phases of providing this type of service to the consumer featured the Housing Guild Course, according to Mr. Wood. Estimating, financing, the new types of materials, and other subjects taken up during the course were discussed, each by an expert.

The number of civil employees in the executive branch of the United States government during November and December of 1938 was 917,760 as of November 11, 1938, the day the Armistice was signed.

... Men dig all their lives for treasure

Once in a blue moon they find a giant diamond. Four years ago the famous Jonker was discovered in S. Africa. Recently a new "giant" was found by two poor diggers in Brazil, to be added to the great gems of the world.

This firm has handled diamonds since 1856. That experience, coupled with our specialized study as Registered Students of Gemology, gives us high competency in judging stones for color and degree of perfection.

We recommend Traub engagement and wedding rings because the diamonds are perfect, and fine and bright in color. You may buy under our Budget Plan, paying as little as 50 cents or $1 weekly on rings costing up to $25 and $50 respectively.

Like actual diamond diggers, we are continuously searching for the best in diamonds. With almost as much thrill as discoverers of a "giant," we are proud of being the exclusive agency for Traub diamonds, which are guaranteed perfect.

It weighs 726.60 metric carats, 60 points more than the Jonker, and is almost perfect in purity. The fourth largest stone of its kind in the world (in size, about 2½ by 3 inches), it has been named the "President Vargas" after the head of the Brazilian Republic.

Soil Chamberlain, British prime minister, is a music-lover and plays the piano well.

MEMORIAL

HOUGHTALING — In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Grant Houghtaling, who entered into the harbor of perpetual peace five years ago today. God chose this day five years ago, when heaven's gates were opened. And a loving voice said "Come, with a farewell unspoken." Twas wrong, perhaps, to think of grief, Of that which brought him sweet relief. Let us remember our Lord knew best, And going to a peaceful rest, May his soul rest in peace.

Surviving her are two daughters, Caroline Hatch and Mrs. Marguerite Allen of this city; two brothers, Arthur Rice of Kingston and Fred Rice of Middletown. The Rev. Mr. Gaenzel will officiate at the funeral services to which relatives and friends are invited and which will be held at her residence, 12 Sterling street, this city, Monday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in the Montreux Cemetery.

Thomas Campbell, 71, a retired chief clerk of the New Haven Railroad, was found dead in bed in his room at 11:30 a.m. on Tuesday morning by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foster, with whom he was living in Modena. Dr. William Branner of New Paltz gave a heart attack as the cause. Mr. Campbell had been in failing health for several months. Born in Paterson, he had lived in Modena for about 14 years. He had served the Railroad Co. for 34 years and was a member of the Order of Railroad Clerks. Survivors are two brothers, a sister and nieces and nephews. Funeral services were held today with burial in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery, this city, where final absolution was pronounced by the Rev. James P. Hearon and the Rev. John McEntee.

Ellenville, April 21—Miss Anna Salaky died at the Middletown Hospital on Saturday, following a long illness. She was born in Newark, N. J., March 1, 1908, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Salaky. She had been a resident of this section for about 15 years and was a member of St. Michael's Church at Ulster Heights. Surviving besides her parents are two sisters, Mrs. Gus Wittner of Ellenville and Mrs. Susan Bruck of Irvington, N. J., and two brothers, George and John Salaky, at home, and several nieces and nephews. Funeral services were held at St. Michael's Church Monday morning in charge of the Rev. Joseph A. Geis. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Lucy Bishop, wife of the late George Bishop, died at her home, 72 Summer street, last night following an illness of a year. Mrs. Bishop was a daughter of the late Patrick and Sarah Kelly O'Reilly and was born and lived her entire life in Kingston. Surviving are one daughter, Miss Minnie Upton; four daughters, Mrs. Jerry Miller of Poughkeepsie, Mrs. John Graham, Mrs. Walter R. Seaman, Mrs. Theodore Hudson of Highland; two sons, Clifford and Percy Terpening of Highland, and one sister, Mrs. S. A. Crum of Poughkeepsie. Burial was in the Highland cemetery and the bearers were Samuel D. Farnham, Merle Freer, Benjamin Gedney, George Miller, Jack Lewis, Martin Salomon.

Ralph Gakenheimer of 20 Hewitt Place, member of the plumbing firm of Gakenheimer and McManus, 109 Franklin street, died Thursday afternoon at the Benevolent Hospital. He is survived by his wife, Catherine Larkin Gakenheimer; two daughters, June and Joan, and one son, Jay; four sisters, Mrs. Julia Houser of Middletown, Mrs. Anna Stewart and Laura and Edith Gakenheimer of this city; also one brother, George W. Gakenheimer of Rhinebeck. Mr. Gakenheimer was a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Church. Funeral services will be held from the late residence, 20 Hewitt Place, Monday morning at 9 o'clock, and thence from St. Joseph's Church at 9:30 o'clock, where a requiem Mass will be offered. Relatives and friends invited. Burial in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

New York City Produce Market

The funeral services of Mrs. Mary Quatieri, beloved wife of Genna Quatieri, were held Thursday morning at 9 a.m. from her late home in East Kingston, and at 10 a.m. from St. Colman's Church, the Rev. George McNamee, pastor, celebrated a solemn high Mass of requiem, assisted by the Rev. Fr. Kennedy, deacon and the Rev. Fr. Roth, sub-deacon. At the offertory of the Mass William Raible sang Ave Maria, accompanied at the organ by Arthur Belch, and at the conclusion rendered Ave Verum. The bearers were Thomas Greco, Jack Greco, Tony Mitchell, Frank Quatieri, Joseph Clausi and Thomas Milano. Burial was made in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery, Kingston, where final absolution was pronounced by Father McNamee as the body was lowered to its final resting place.

The funeral of Lawrence Britt was held from his home at Morgan Hill Thursday morning at 9:15 o'clock and at 10 o'clock from St. John's Church, Stony Hollow, where a solemn high Mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. James P. Hearon and the Rev. Edmund L. Kain the subdeacon. Responses to the Mass were sung by the church

HITLER REVIEWS PARADE ON BIRTHDAYFinancial and Commercial*Foreign Markets Stronger Thursday

Foreign markets were stronger yesterday as financial and political circles took a more or less optimistic view of Mussolini's speech in reply to President Roosevelt's peace plea and following their lead stocks here opened strong and gains for the day were shown.

While foreign affairs appeared a bit less disturbing marketwise, and here and there, the domestic business picture brightened, speculative forces inclined to keep commitments relatively light, pending more assurances war in Europe would be avoided.

Bonds were selectively higher, with foreign dollar loans exhibiting fresh strength. Commodities were a shade mixed.

Edging forward after a hesitant start were Chrysler, General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Sears, Roebuck, Eastman Kodak, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Anaconda and Westinghouse.

Backward most of the time were American Can, Allied Chemical, Texas Corp., Johns-Manville and Phelps Dodge.

Given a moderate lift in the curb were Electric Bond & Share, Cargile Petroleum, Knott Corp., Niles-Benton-Pond and Standard Oil of Nebraska.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 15 Broad street, New York city, branch office 48 Main street, R. E. Osterhout, manager.

Planthaber Runs 112 for Record; Champions Fight Tonight

Billiard Champion Replaces Tellier's Last Year's Mark

Title for City High Run Was Held by Andrew Ponzi, Former World's Champion

Fred Planthaber, who recently won the city billiard title, walked away last night at the Kasieh Billiard Parlor with an all time city record for high run. In an open game with Norman Niles Planthaber pocketed a high run of 112 to outclass the former high run of 65 established by Julius Tellier last year.

Nick Kasieh, proprietor of the parlor, said that the new mark is the highest run ever made on any of his tables and in all probability the highest that will be made in a good many more years.

A good many years ago, Andrew Ponzi, former world's champion, is credited with a run of 108 and Irwin Rudolph, who masqueraded as the Masked Marvel, succeeded in pocketing 99.

The Penckhockie cueist waded through over eight racks before he scratched on the 112th ball.

Ten Broeck Stars In First Outdoor K.H.S. Track Trials

Potentially, a new star was found yesterday afternoon in the first of a series of track trials for the Kingston High School cinder sportsmen. The up and coming threat is Culver Ten Broeck, the lean and lanky boy from Port Jervis.

Ten Broeck amazed the local mentors, G. Warren Kias and Lorraine Connick, who supervised the drill, by placing first in the javelin throw and the shot-put. In the latter, Culver whizzed the disc for a distance of 39 feet, 2 inches. And in the javelin trial, marked out a 136 feet, 6 inches.

In the 440 yard dash Bill "Curly" Cole paced the runners with Johnny Ennis and Kippy Purlow following in that order. The time was 55.1. Joe Beirach, a star of last year's successful squad, copped the half mile jaunt in 2:10.2. Pat Bowers and Wally Vollman made up for the first three.

Four heats were run off in the 100 yard dash. Al Nussbaum, Bill Douglas, Jack Fallon and Bill Tucker were the first men in each heat. Nussbaum made in 11.2 and he was followed by Dodd and Jack Sawyer. Douglas, followed by Chris Perry and Jim Collins, sprinted the distance in 11.1. Jack Fallon tied Nussbaum's mark at 11.2. Fallon's followers were Frank Short and Jack Roosa. Bill Tucker made the best showing at 10.9 and he promises to be a starter this season. Ed Terwilliger and Roger Goodfellow, who was tied with Katelynian finished up.

Ken Douglas, one of the mainstays last year, topped the high-jumpers at 5 feet. Horace Churchwell and Dick Teveny tied at 4 feet, 10 inches.

Ten Broeck who made 136 feet, 6 inches in the javelin was followed by Hofbrauer at 10 feet, 9 inches and Roger Gondsdorff at 103 feet, 4 inches. The final trial was again annexed by Ten Broeck who made 38 feet, 2 inches at the shot. Urban Hutz made 36 feet, 11 inches and Larkin 36 feet.

More trials are scheduled for today providing the weather is suitable.

Ulster Gun Club Skeeters to Shoot

The skeet range of the Ulster County Gun Club will be open Saturday afternoon for the regular bi-monthly shoot.

All claybusters and spectators interested are invited. The traps will be in operation at 1 o'clock.

Doubles League To Be Organized

A meeting to reorganize a permanent mixed doubles league will be held at the Central Recreation alleys tonight at 9:30 o'clock after the regular Colonial Women's matches.

Prizes for the three game sweepstakes conducted last Tuesday night will be given out at that time.

Camden, N. J.—Steve Casey, 225, Ireland, defeated Tommy Rap, 215, Salem, Mass., straight falls.

Clermonts and Crusaders To Meet for Supremacy Of Gold Medal Tourney

Playing before a fair turnout of fans at the Y. M. C. A. last night the Fuller Clermonts and the Poughkeepsie Crusaders pushed their way in successive victories to gain them the right of meeting in the playoff for top honors. This big attraction is scheduled for tonight as the Gold Medal basketball tournament, after three weeks of play, will end in flying colors.

Up against a stubborn and not too easy a foe, the shirtmakers displayed all the power they possibly had before the French Dye Works team had been disposed of. The final count was 39 to 32.

The second skirmish of the night the Poughkeepsie Crusaders caught the Newburgh du Ponts in a rut and took advantage to bang out a neat 30 to 18 triumph.

Cluck Henke's second annual tournament and probably his last will end at the Y. M. C. A. to-night with two games on the card for the interested court spectator.

At eight o'clock two teams in the loser's bracket, fighting for third and fourth spots, will hook-up. These clubs will be the French Dye Works and the Newburgh du Ponts. The Fuller Clermonts will tackle the Poughkeepsie Crusaders in what promises to be one of the best games since the tournament started.

The big boys of the Clermonts—Charlie Bock and Tommy Maines, ex-high school greats—were the mainstays in the downing of the cleaners. Charlie sniped the cords for 15 markers while Tommy cracked in 10.

Taking a 15 to 9 lead at the first session the Clermonts looked too powerful for their opponents.

Sparked by Jess Shultz, the cleaners came to life and worked themselves up to a 21-20 count at the half. The score at the third period saw the Clermonts in the van, but not too much, by 31-28.

Both fives resorted to passing in the closing period until the five minute mark. The count read 37-32 in the closing minute as Eddie Bock rolled up the floor and finished the play with a dazzling deuce and the final two-pointer of the exciting fray.

Despite the setback the French Dye Club lost nothing in the way of prestige. Shultz, Rhymey Murphy and Dykes were outstanding all the way.

The second tussle of the bill pitted the Poughkeepsie Crusaders against the Newburgh du Ponts. But it wasn't the night for the Hilly City quintet. Myron Embler, the fast forward, was held to four points and lacked his usual spotless floor play as well.

However, the Crusaders offered a checking game last night which was just about airtight. Nate Doltinger, the best guard of the loop, took the brunt of the attack in both scoring and defensive work. Jones and Tuttle also looked good in the victory. Johnny D'Auitola, another shining guard, was on the go from the start.

Senate Approves Wicks Measure

Albany, April 21 (Special) — Senate approval has been given to the bill of Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of Kingston, providing that rules, regulations and acts of a civil service commission shall be subject to review on facts and law by a court of competent jurisdiction.

It is also provided in this measure that the court may substitute its discretion in place of the commission's in arriving at a determination.

Also passed by the Senate and sent to the Assembly for approval, is the Wicks bill amending the children's court act, providing for payment of bills by city treasurer for care and maintenance of children committed by a children's court judge to a public welfare commissioner within a city welfare district.

Boon in Bibles
New York (AP)—China and Japan are still buying Bibles in spite of war, says the American Bible Society. The Chinese bought from the Bible Society more whole Bibles in 1938 than ever before in their history, it says, and Japan bought almost ten per cent more volumes of Scripture, including Bibles, Testaments and Gospel Portions than the year before. The society's total distribution of scriptures in China last year was 1,395,515 and in Japan, 703,068.

Steam locomotives on the railroads decreased from 60,572 at the beginning of 1930 to 46,342 on January 1, 1938.

CHARGED WITH TORSO SLAYING*Young Woman Gets Her Wish—10 Years in Jail

Paducah, Ky., April 21 (AP)—An attractive blonde woman, who declined to reveal her true identity or her home address, awaited to-day to begin serving "what I wanted"—a 10-year prison sentence for attempting to holdup two women with a toy pistol in a theatre.

The woman, listed as "Barbara Williams," 23, pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery with a deadly weapon in circuit court yesterday.

Later, in an interview, she said she came here for the express purpose of committing a crime and drawing a prison sentence so she might not interfere with the romance of a young couple in a "northern city."

She intimated she loved a man who loved another girl.

County Attorney John Kirskey said the woman admitted to police she gave a fictitious name.

Millikan Foresees Golden Age Ahead

tury or even a half century ago." Power—its cost, sources and uses—will play a major role in the world of tomorrow, Dr. Millikan said.

Oil, he thought, perhaps would be gone in 50 years, but coal "will last for at least another millennium." He saw power coming "either directly from the sun through solar motors or wind mills or tidal machines, or else indirectly through growing and burning plants."

Social and political matters of the future he termed "the most burning and most uncertain."

All of his forecast, he cautioned, "was based on the assumption that our present civilization would not be destroyed by man's present or prospective international wickedness, stupidity and folly."

He predicted life in America would not differ, 50 or 100 years from now, "nearly so much from the life of today as the life of to-day differs from that of a cen-
